DIAZ TURNS AGAINST HUERTA AND LATTER'S MEN ARE DESERTING

In All Except Three States of the Mexican Republic Revolution Rages With Gun and Torch

GLOOMY PICTURE LAID BEFORE U. S. SENATORS

Charles Hine, President of Mexican West Shore Railroad, Appears Before Foreign Relations Committee

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—"Only three states in all the republic of Mexico are partly free from the ravages of bands of revolutionists and murderers. The people, generally, wherever you go, regard President Huerta as a murderer, and it has become apparent, even to his supporters, that he can never pacify the country. Felix Diaz, who made Huerta president, has turned against him, and is proving the most formidable enemy the present administration has. At no previous time since Porfirio Diaz was exiled was the situation as bad as it is now."

This is the gloomy picture that was painted before the foreign relations committee of the senate by Charles Hine, a former Virginian, who is now president of the West Shore railroad in Mexico. Hine appeared before the committee at the request of Senator Mark Smith, of Arizona, who feels an especial interest in the Mexican situation, because his state borders on the southern republic.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED.

The advices of the state department from its representatives throughout Mexico confirm Hine's information in no essential detail. Almost everywhere in the republic is there respect for either life or property. Only the strong arm affords protection. In most of the states there is no law and no authority.

Americans everywhere have armed mutual protection, their sole remaining business being to save their lives.

President Huerta has made not the slightest headway toward the suppression of the rebellion. He is compelled to keep practically all of his military forces in the city of Mexico and its immediate vicinity to save himself from death. His personal movements about the Mexican capital are made under a guard so heavy that no person can approach within gunshot of him.

In three of the states there remains a semblance of government, but everywhere else the country is seething with assassination, robbery and rapine. Nobody can predict the future, except in the certainty that the Huerta regime is doomed.

REVOLUTIONISTS ORGANIZED.

Venustiano Carranza, the most active rebel in a military way, is said to be the best organizer developed in all the factions with which the country has been afflicted. Under the direction of Felix Diaz, he is basing the present revolution upon organized government. As fast as he seizes a section of territory he forms a military government, restores order and makes the inhabitants pay for it by a heavy tax levy. His progress is slow because it is methodical, but whether he is to be the instrument for the redemption of Mexico is something the state department still doubts.

The taxes levied by Carranza are so heavy that in many instances they ruin the already impoverished people, and it is said there is no foreign merchant in any territory touched by this latest revolutionary movement who has not closed his place of business, taken his rifle and his family and joined with other foreigners in organizing a camp for mutual protection.

The taxes are levied in the form of paper money, and it means instant impoverishment to decline to receive this money, or even to discount it. And foreigners in Mexico at this time is equivalent to death.

U. S. Supreme Court on Neutrality Violations

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Persons exporting arms from the United States to promote revolution in Mexico may be arrested by American authorities for violating the neutrality proclamation of 1912 before the arms have actually left the United States, according to a decision today by the supreme court.

The decision reversed the district federal court for western Texas, which annulled indictments against Armi Messa and Joseph Mesa.

Mutinous Federal Troops Asked to Join Rebels

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., May 5.—Mutinous federal troops, which on Saturday drove their commander, General Jose Inez Salazar, and his faithful followers from old Casas Grandes, Mexico, are being urged to accept formally the constitutionalist revolution. This practically would place the revolutionists in control of the territory along the Mexico Northern railroad southwest of Juarez. So far the mutineers, who number 250, merely have displayed resentment of their leaders ordering them to proceed to Chihuahua City, on instructions from General Antonio Rabago. But insurgent agents here believe that they soon will accept the revolutionary plan.

General Salazar and his men retreated to New Casas Grandes, the railway town, with the mutineers in undisputed claim of the older and larger settlement, a few miles from the railway. With the possession of the Casas Grandes district, a valuable food supply center, it is planned to proceed directly with the campaign against Juarez.

200 REBELS AT SAN YGNACIO.

Already 200 insurgents have appeared at San Ygnacio, on the Texas border. Those troops will proceed against Guadalupe, below Fabens, Tex., which was the town where Madero began his campaign two years ago.

At Guadalupe is located only a small force of rural police and already mutineers from the Juarez garrison have

GOMPERS MUST GO TO JAIL, BUT WITH REDUCED SENTENCE

Court of Appeals of District of Columbia Sustains Lower Court, but Cuts Sentences to Almost Minimum

MITCHELL AND MORRISON LET OFF WITH A FINE

Famous Contempt of Court Case Comes to a Close, Gompers' Sentence Reduced From Year to Thirty Days

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The contempt of court judgments upon Samuel Gampers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, officials of the American Federation of Labor, were sustained today by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, which, however, revised the sentence to give Gompers thirty days' imprisonment and fine Mitchell and Morrison $500 each, with no jail term.

The chief justice of the court dissenting, held that the entire judgment should be reversed. The lower court gave Gompers one year, Mitchell nine months and Morrison six months, with out option of fine. All were convicted of violating a court injunction in the noted Buck's Stove and Range case.

ANOTHER APPEAL.

An appeal from the decision today will be taken to the supreme court of the United States, if attorneys for the labor leaders can find ground upon which to ask the highest court to review the judgment.

On a previous appeal to the supreme court the judgment was effectually dismissed and the contempt proceedings were brought all over again.

In the previous action the decision of the court below holding the men in contempt was unanimous. The dissenting opinion of the chief justice today probably will present one avenue of further appeal.

The case has been a hard fought one and attracted wide attention because of the prominence of the men involved.

The contempt was alleged to have been the publication of the name of the Buck Stove and Range company in a so-called "boycott list" in the American Federation of Labor's official magazine after it had been forbidden by the court.

Chicago Unions Raise Funds to Aid Darrow

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 5.—Officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor today began raising funds for the financial aid of Clarence Darrow, the attorney who defended the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles and who will soon face his third trial for bribery in the California city. The attorney's friends declare he is penniless as a result of his two trials.

FREE OCHRE HITS ONLY THE MINES IN GEORGIA

Bartow County Has the Only Mines in U. S.—Satterfield, at Capital, Asks Duty

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The action of the house in placing ochre on the free list has brought to Washington W. C. Satterfield, of Cartersville, who is interested in the ochre mines of Bartow county. Satterfield is anxious to see a small duty placed on this product, which is used principally in the manufacture of linoleum. The Bartow county ochre mines are the only ones in the United States.

MONTENEGRO BOWS TO EUROPE'S ORDER, EVACUATING SCUTARI

When Russia Failed to Come to Aid of Little Kingdom, Montenegrins Realized Resistence Would Be Futile

POWERS MAY ALLOW SOME COMPENSATION

King Nicholas Had Defied the Great Powers of Europe Since the Capture of Scutari April 23

(By Associated Press.)

CETTINJE, Montenegro, May 5.—King Nicholas, of Montenegro, decided today to evacuate the fortress of Scutari in response to the demands of the European powers.

When he took possession of Scutari on April 23, after a six months' siege which cost the lives of thousands of Montenegrins and Turks, King Nicholas declared that he would hold the city until the last drop of Montenegrin blood had been shed. As the European powers had decided previously that Scutari was to form part of the future autonomous state of Albania, a crisis was brought about and the powers immediately brought strong pressure to bear to force him and his troops to evacuate the place.

In the meanwhile Austria took energetic steps to enforce the powers' decision, and concentrated large bodies of troops in Bosnia, Herzegovina and Dalmatia. The powers, in the interim, instituted a blockade of the Montenegro coast. All these demonstrations, however, seemed not to affect the determination of King Nicholas.

Some of the Montenegrin troops were withdrawn from Scutari, in order, it was said, to resist a possible Austrian advance. Then word came that Austria and Italy had entered into an agreement to solve the Albanian problem by a military expedition, and it was known that the Austrian army was preparing to move forward.

The attitude of Russia under these circumstances was a matter of great concern to Europe and when she joined in the pressure exercised on Montenegro, great relief was felt, as it had been thought she would resist any attempt by Austria to order her army southward.

It was suggested during the negotiations that the king of Montenegro was to receive territorial compensation in some other direction if he would give up Scutari and that his majesty was preparing to accept this offer.

Matter Will Come Before The European Ambassadors

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 5.—Montenegro has decided, according to diplomatic advices received here, to leave the future of Scutari in the hands of the powers. This step is taken to mean that the evacuation of the city will be carried out immediately. The matter will come up today at the meeting of the ambassadors of the European powers.

No Conditions Demanded By Montenegro In Quiting

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 5.—No conditions were mentioned by Montenegro today when she informed the German foreign office that she had decided to play Scutari in the hands of the powers.

On the other hand, the foreign office says there is no evidence that any concrete step in this direction has yet been taken and doubt is expressed by officials as to the veracity of the reports that Montenegro has already evacuated the city.

No data for the evacuation of Scutari, by Montenegrin troops was given in the communication received here from Cettinje, but there is reason to believe that the German minister in the Montegrin capital received assurances from King Nicholas that the first steps would be taken within twenty-four hours.

Further details of the intentions of Montenegro may be forthcoming during the conference of ambassadors in London today.

News received from the German minister at Cettinje and the strength of the Vienna market confirmed the belief of Berlin financial circles that a peaceful settlement was in sight.

TARIFF BILL REACHES FINAL STAGES IN HOUSE

Underwood Bill Will Be Ready to Be Sent to the Senate by Wednesday

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The end of the tariff debate was in sight today so far as the house is concerned. With a few odds and ends of the sundries schedule left over, the house stood ready to dispose of the free list, the complex administrative features and the income tax, all that remained of the new tariff law.

"All the fight's about over now," said Mr. Underwood, the Democratic leader, as he surveyed the situation.

The debate has been the most good-natured in the recollection of the Democratic leaders. The Republicans have avoided filibustering or demand for recorded votes.

Only a few minor changes are now to be expected and they will be to clarify language. Democratic leaders expected today would clear the path for consideration of the income tax alone tomorrow to be followed by the reading of the bill for the formal passage of the whole measure, a formality counted upon to take less than an hour.

A brief relating to the income tax provision of the Underwood bill was led with the senate finance committee today by the Investment Bankers' Association of America. The association favors the general purpose to collect the tax at the source, but urges that the tax should follow the general plan of the English act with respect to interest on corporate bonds.

The brief sets forth that the bill overlooks the fact that nine-tenths of this interest is payable on coupons to bearer, making no provision by which this interest can be deducted by the corporation.

G. O. P.-MOOSE FEUD.

The Republican-Progressive feud broke but anew when Representative Murdock referred to Representative Humphreys as the "dyspeptic gentleman from Washington, understudy of the Republican leader, Mr. Mann."

"The members of the Progressive party have no rings in their noses," he shouted. "They are not led around as the gentleman from Washington has been for years in this body."

Mr. Murdock read a printed letter from a Progressive county chairman in Wisconsin reading Representative Bonnet root into the Democratic party and then caused some consternation by declaring that several members sitting on the floor as Republicans had been elected as Progressives by Progressive votes.

Representative Mann replied to Mr. Murdock, whom he characterized as "free trader for everything not produced in his district."

COAL STRIKE LOOKS SUSPICIOUS TO KERN

Senate Leader Replies to Governor Halfield, of West Virginia, Regarding Probe

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—After reading a statement by Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, denying allegations of peonage and a reign of terror in the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek coal districts, Senator Kern today reiterated his intention to press his resolution for a federal inquiry into the West Virginia coal field situation.

"I have never pretended," declared Senator Kern, "to have had personal knowledge of conditions in West Virginia. I have stated facts as they have been presented to me. Opposition to investigation which has come from various quarters has done more than anything else to arouse my suspicions as to the conditions existing there."

JAPAN HAS NOT YET PROTESTED LAND BILL

No Formal Protest Has Been Filed With State Department Over California's Bill

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson received today by telegram a copy of the alien land bill passed by the California legislature, now awaiting Governor Johnson's signature.

Mr. Wilson told his callers that he had not yet received the formal protest of Japan, and intimated that before May 13, the last day for Governor Johnson to sign the bill, some expression might be expected as to whether it would be in contravention of the treaty with Japan.

In the absence of instructions to the contrary, Ambassador Chinda will not present Japan's formal protest until after Secretary Bryan returns.

Meanwhile the government's legal experts are studying the Webb bill in an effort to locate what may be points of attack.

Many officials here believed that the lawyers of the California legislature have succeeded in framing a bill that may successfully resist attack upon the ground that it violates any provision of the treaty of 1911 between the United States and Japan.

In that case Japan would need to rely upon the general provisions of international law to secure relief from the threatened discrimination it alleges.

In some circles apprehension that efforts might be made to connect with the California situation the recent placing of orders for three dreadnaughts, Japanese embassy officials today declared these vessels were appropriated for by the last diet before the land legislation began in California.

The joint board, composed of the highest technical officers of the army and navy, and headed by Admiral Dewey, was in secret session today. While it was a special meeting, it was stated that it had been in contemplation for some time and was to have been called as soon as Major General Wood returned from his Texas trip.

BACON SEES A LONG SESSION OF CONGRESS

Georgian Predicts That Members Will Have to Spend Most of Year in Washington

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—An attempt to pass a resolution authorizing the senate banking and currency committee to hold hearings preliminary to currency reform legislation precipitated a sharp debate in the senate today, and on objection of Senator Clarke went over until tomorrow.

Senator Gallinger inquired directly of Chairman Owen if it was the intention of the committee to pass currency legislation at the extra session.

"I am unable to make a definite reply," said Mr. Owen. "Personally I am strongly in favor of this legislation at this session."

Senator Bacon declared senators might as well make up their minds that the day of the short session was over, and that they would have to spend most of the year in Washington.

REDFIELD WILL CALL BLUFF OF THE TRUSTS

Secretary of Commerce Will Probe Any Cut in Wages Following Tariff Changes

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—If reduction in wages of working men follow enactment of the Democratic tariff bill, the investigating powers of the department of commerce will be called in to establish whether they are of a bona fide nature according to Secretary Redfield.

President Wilson has said he would try to learn the cause of any reduction of pay after passage of the bill and o callers today he indicated a general approval of Mr. Redfield's ideas.

Mr. Redfield declared at the White House that probably the first inquiry would be into the pottery industry for which, he said, representations had been made that a reduction in wages would follow changes in duties.

"We want to see," said Secretary Redfield, "whether any changes in business, particularly those that affect wages, are directly necessary in the industries affected or whether some business men are just bluffing."

"In other words, we don't feel disposed to accept at par, statements of the interests themselves as to the effects of the tariff bill but will make a through investigation through the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce."

The secretary indicated that his department would observe business in general after the tariff bill had gone into effect and if changes in the tariff seemed necessary, the data collected would be a basis for discussion in congress at later sessions.

HARRIS-DURAND CONTEST POSTPONED BY SENATE

Absence of Chairman Chilton Causes Fight for Georgian's Confirmation Delay

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The absence from the city of Senator Chilton, of West Virginia, will delay consideration by the senate of Colonel William J. Harris' nomination for director of the census.

Chilton is chairman of the census committee, which favorably reported the Harrison nomination and as such he will be nominally in charge of the fight in the executive session. Ordinarily, the nomination would have been called up this afternoon.

Colonel Harris passed through Washington today en route to Baltimore, where he will place Mrs. Harris in Johns Hopkins sanitarium for treatment.

CORONER'S INQUEST RESUMED 2:30 P. M.; FRANK WILL TESTIFY

Factory Superintendent Was Expected to Be the Chief Witness, Though 200 Others Had Been Subpenaed

NEW GRAND JURY URGED TO PROMPT INVESTIGATION

A Thousand Violations of Law Against Vice Do Not Equal Crime of Mary Phagan's Murder, Says Judge Ellis

The jury empannelled a week ago by Coroner Paul Donehoo resumed its probe into the mystery of the murder of little Mary Phaagn on Monday afternoon shortly after 2:30 o'clock.

The delay in resuming the inquest was due to the fact that Coroner Donehoo did not get back from Marietta until 2:30 o'clock.

Although police headquarters was crowded by nearly 200 witnesses, mostly employes at the National Pencil factory, where Mary Phagan met her death, it was said at the opening of the session that only a few witnesses would be called upon to testify.

The coroner, the chief of detectives and the solicitor general held a short conference just before the inquest was resumed.

It is said that the conference was held in order that the officials might reach a decision as to just what witnesses it will be necessary to bring before the inquest. It is said to be the desire of Solicitor Dorsey that the inquest may proceed without disclosing any more of the "state's hand" than is absolutely necessary.

L. M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, who is held in connection with the case, was expected to be among the first witnesses examined by the coroner's jury. It was also considered probable that Newt Lee, the negro watchman, who is also under arrest in the case, would be recalled to the stand in order that the jury might ask him addition questions.

There was a possibility, however, of Mr. Frank being the only witness.

Luther Z. Rosser, attorney for Mr. Frank, said he would make no objection to Mr. Frank appearing before the coroner's jury and answering any questions that the jurors might wish to ask.

Should the inquest be concluded Monday afternoon, it is highly probable that the grand jury, which was empanneled Monday morning, will take up the Phagan case Tuesday, although no definite announcement has been made by the officials.

The detectives are said to have located another important witness, a woman who is said to have seen Mary Phagan at the factory last Saturday. It is said to be improbable, however, that this witness will be called Monday, and the officials are anxious to keep her identity a secret.

In his charge to the new grand jury, Judge W. D. Ellis, of the superior court, Monday mornin gcalled upon the jury to make an immediate and searching investigation of Mary Phagan's murder. He declared that a thousand violations of the law against vice would not equal in crime the mistreatment and death of this fourteen-year-old child, and that the case demanded the prompt attention of the grand jury.

Judge Ellis' reference to the Phagan case, taken verbatim from his charge to the jury, was: "The Mary Phagan case calls for your immediate and vigorous attention. The power of the state is behind you. What appears to be an awful crime has been committed, and the welfare of the community, the good name of Atlanta, public justice and the majesty of the law demand at the hands of this grand jury and of all officers of the law the most searching investigation and the prompt bringing to trial of the guilty party."

Solicitor Dorsey was seen after the judge's charge had been concluded and stated that in his opinion the Phagan case could hardly be taken up Monday. He thought it would probably be several days before the grand jury began its investigation, although he said it was possible for the jury to take the matter up at once if it saw fit to do so.

LANFORD'S STATEMENT.

"We have sufficient evidence to justify the coroner's jury in holding L. M. Frank and Newt Lee for further investigation by the grand jury," declared Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford Monday morning.

The detectives are still searching for the mysterious "Girl in the Red Dress," who called in a store in Marietta last Wednesday that she was with Mary Pha-

"Yes, I have been right here in this very room for a number of years now; I have secured good service and I am comfortable and contented. I am handy to business and everything is homelike and cozy."

"You were mighty lucky to find such a room when you came to town. How did you get it?"

Many such experiences as this have resulted from advertising rooms to rent in The Journal Want Columns.

GHENT PEACE DELEGATES MEETING IN NEW YORK

Conference Arranging for Centenary of Treaty of Ghent December 24, 1914

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Delegates to the conference which is arranging for the centenary of the treaty of Ghent, signalizing a hundred years of peace among English-speaking peoples, journeyed from their hotels to the city hall today to receive the city's formal welcome. The program included addresses by Mayor Gaynor, Lord Weardale, head of the British delegation; Alton B. Parker and others.

Although the centenary of the treaty of Ghent will not be reached until December 24, 1914, it is the purpose of the conferees to make elaborate plans in advance for a suitable celebration, which will include ceremonies at Ghent and in churches and schools and by legislative bodies and other organizations throughout the English-speaking world. Plans also are to be made for the erection of various monuments commemorative of the event.

Aside from the work of the visiting delegates there are to be many social gatherings in their honor during the week, the chief of which will be a banquet on Friday night at which Joseph H. Choate will preside. On Thursday the delegates will be entertained at luncheon by Colonel Roosevelt at Sagamore and by Andrew Carnegie at a garden party.

"As close in hearts, so close lie Canada and the United States geographically," said Mr. Parker in welcoming the delegates.

"There are 3,800 miles of opportunity for trouble, the longest international boundary in the world, not fortified nor guarded nor watched with suspicion since 1817, when the British and American governments informally agreed to the disarmament of the great lakes and the whole borderland. With such a record as this, who dare say that nations may not well live peacefully side by side?"

MURRAY MAY COURT TO HAVE BUSY SESSION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., May 5.—When the May term of Murray superior court meets at Spring Place on Monday, May 12, a special session of the grand jury may be called to clear the jail of prisoners. The court promises interest, as two murder cases are on the docket, both of which are set for Wednesday. B. H. Hyde, charged with the murder of Bob Dunn, about two years ago, and Tom Whitson, charged with murdering John Smith last December, will be arraigned for trial. Whitson claims self-defense, stating that Smith was raising a gun to shoot him when he fired to protect himself.

The Knox alimony case is an interesting event of Tuesday, May 13. The defendant in the case is fighting his sixth's wife claim to alimony, and is also threatening suit for divorce to marry a seventh time. Mrs. Knox has been married four times. The first trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for $10 monthly alimony, the supreme court reversing the decision and sending it back for new trial.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

The charm is a token of esteem for the heroic part the conductor took in the rescue of Mr. H. B. Smith, the engineer who was operating the engine of which the train was wrecked near Warm Springs in February, and who lost his life as a result of scalds received from escaping steam. It is a very fine piece of jewelry, elaborately engraved on each side, bearing the name of the donor and the recipient and the dead of heroism.

Engineer Falls From Cab, But Train Runs On Without Its Pilot

(By Associated Press.)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 5.—As Union Pacific train No. 2, eastbound, the Overland Limited, was nearing Church Buttes, Wyo., last night, Fireman Hurley discovered that Engineer Alfred Nelson was missing from his post. The train was stopped and then run back over the road for several miles, but no trace of the missing engineer could be found. It is not known how long the train had been running without an engineer, but it was believed that Nelson was knocked from his seat as the train passed over a bridge which spans Blacksmith Fork creek, about ten miles from Church Buttes.

After searching for two hours, the train proceeded to Granger, where another engineer was supplied. A searching party dragged the creek for Nelson's body.

MRS. LAURA CRAMER TO LOSE HURD FORTUNE

Court of Appeals Reverses Lower Court Relative to Connecticut Man's Money

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Laura B. Cramer, a state department clerk, charged with having used "spook influences" upon Fenton J. Hurd, a Greenwich, Conn., millionaire, to obtain $80,000, will have to turn the money back to his estate.

Mrs. Cramer admitted having obtained $34,000 "because Hurd was grateful for her care of him," and a lower court left her in possession of the money. The court of appeals today reversed that decision. The next step in the proceeding, which has been a long one will be to locate the money, said to be tied up in securities, Hurd was declared incompetent by a Connecticut court.

GORDON CADETS WILL CAMP AT HOLTON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 5.—Lieutenant Riley, Major Steele and the Gordon cadets, about 150 strong, left today for Holton, near Macon, where they will be encamped for the next week. President E. T. Holmes and Vice President H. N. Watson also accompanied them, and will spend most of the time in camp with them.

While these annual encampments are in the nature of a vacation, it is also an occasion in which much hard work and practical study are done, and is usually quite profitable to the battalion.

A number of citizens of the city expect to visit the cadets during the week and participate in the pleasure of camp life.

SAYS HE COULD TELL HAMS BY THE SMELL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., May 5.—Claiming to be able to identify his hams by the tantalizing odor which arose while they were being fried, a farmer of this county went before the grand jury recently in session here and requested that a bill of indictment charging one of his neighbors with larceny be returned.

As this was the only evidence he had, the grand jury refused to consider the request.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 5.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' bank was held yesterday at the bank and proved a highly satisfactory one, the reports of the officers showing last year to have been the most prosperous in the history of the bank. The following officers were elected for another year: C. O. Summers, president; T. W. Cochran, vice president; G. H. Humphrey, cashier; G. White Jordan, assistant cashier. The other directors are J. M. Means, Jr., Rumble, A. L. Mills and V. O. Marshburn.

FRANCE PREPARES TO GREET KING OF SPAIN

Much Preparation Made for Visit of King Alphonso to Capital of France

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 5.—The approaching visit to the French capital of King Alphonso, of Spain, is regarded as of considerable significance for Europe. It is said that the visit may mean the entrance of Spain into the friendly understanding known as the triple entente between France, Great Britain and Russia. Alphonso arrives Wednesday.

The French government is making elaborate preparations for the reception of the king. The rooms which he is to occupy at the Palis d'Orsay have been decorated with objects of art, and the ambassadors' hall, where he will hold a reception, has been hung with tapestry from Louis XIV's favorite sitting room at Versailles palace.

After a stay of two days, crowded with innumerable entertainments, the king will leave on Friday, witnessing a review of military drills and aeroplanes just before his departure.

Sex of Woman Who Battled in Civil War Just Revealed

(By Associated Press.)

QUINCY, Ill., May 5.—The identity of the sex of "Albert" D. J. Cashier, Civil War veteran, and an inmate of the Soldiers and Sailors' home here, was today revealed by Colonel J. O. Anderson, superintendent of the home, to be feminine.

The woman, whose real name probably never will be known, served three years in the union army. She was mustered out of the service in 1865, and a few years later was placed on the government pension roll.

She entered the Soldiers' home two years ago and at that time her sex was known only to Colonel Andrews, but he promised not to reveal her secret. His promise has been fulfilled, in as much as the woman two weeks ago was adjudged insane and in a few days will be committed to the state hospital.

The revelation of the identity of her sex was made two years ago in Livingston county, Illinois, where she was employed by ex-Senator I. M. Lish, as chauffeur. It is said by the ex-senator that one day his machine would not run and that the chauffeur crawled under the car. While she was tampering with the mechanism the engine started and the wheels of the car passed over her, breaking her right leg. Physicians discovered her secret.

JUDGE GRUBB TO HEAR HUFF CONTEMPT CASE

MACON, Ga., May 5.—Announcement has been made by Judge Pardee, of the United States court of appeals, that he has selected Judge Grubb, of the district court at Birmingham, Ala., to hear the charges of contempt of court against Colonel W. A. Huff, Macon's eighty-two-year-old ex-mayor, on May 19 in Macon.

The contempt charges grew out of a letter written to Judge Emory Speer several months ago, in which the judge's judicial character was attacked and his method of handling the Huff bankruptcy case, which has been in the court here for fourteen years, criticized.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WHITESBURG, Ga., May 5.—Allen Legg, a young white boy, stabbed Thomas Treadwell with a knife in the back. Both boys are about seventeen years of age and the trouble seemed to have been started by the refusal of young Treadwell to give up a stickpin in his possession to the Legg boy. The pin in question belonged to one of the girls of the community.

The Booklovers' Campaign at Haynes Jewelry Store

"Will you please let me see that watch?" said a lady in Eugene V. Haynes' jewelry store the other day, as she pointed to the watch that The Journal has on exhibition as one of their Booklovers' prizes. "I don't know just what I am going to win, but I am visiting the different stores and looking over the prizes. They are certainly the best that money could buy, and every prize winner will get something worth while. I did not win anything last year, but it was because I held down too low on the number of answers I turned in. No such foolishness this time, because I will take the full ten on every picture that I think it necessary. There are some of those published that I feel safe on with one or two answers, but there are others I will surely take the full ten answers allowed by the rules. Using the old catalogue? Well, I guess I am not. I thought the Campaign Editor had made it plain enough to every one that using last year's catalogue would mean turning in a lot of answers that are not in this year's catalogue, and therefore cannot be correct. Of course I enjoy the plan, and hope to win a prize, and believe I will this time, as I surely will not make any of the mistakes that I did last year.

"Thank you, Mr. Haynes. If you see my name in the winning list for this watch, and it happens to be Sunday when that list is published, I know you will run down here and get the watch out for me."

PISTOL-TOTING SCORED IN CHARGE TO GRAND JURY

Judge Ellis Calls Attention to This and Other Laws That Are Being Violated

In his charge to the new Fulton county grand jury Monday morning, Judge William D. Ellis called attention to the violation of the liquor laws, the opening of "tipping" houses on Sunday, the laws against the carrying of concealed weapons and referred indirectly to the recent vice crusade and the possible effect that it would have in stimulating the opening of disorderly houses in dark and secret places after having been removed from certain known localities.

"You are empaneled at this May term," said Judge Ellis, "to specially inquire into and take action upon cases of violation of the penal code. While you are required to consider all violations of the law, and bring to trial by presentment or indictment all who are probably guilty of crime, I wish to call your special attention to some matters. "Look to the position of the law against all who conduct clubs which are run for the purpose of selling liquor and find true bills against them. Under the law locker clubs can be operated, but if a club is organized or maintained for the purpose of making money by the sale of intoxicating liquors, those who operate or maintain it are violators of the law."

Judge Ellis invited the careful attention of the jury to the law against the carrying of concealed weapons, declaring that no man, under the law, has a right to carry one. He pointed out that officers of the law may carry them openly and that private individuals carry them unconcealed by procuring a license.

Concluding, Judge Ellis said: "This is a good community. There are thousands of intelligent and law-abiding people, a vast majority of our people are good and virtuous, but, like all other communities, there are bad people in it. The reputation and progress of Atlanta attract to it large numbers of people from all parts of the country, and some of the worst people from other places come here, and add themselves to the bad element of our county. Let the grand jury get after the bad element. You indict all violators of the law in Fulton county and the court will see that speedy trials will follow and certain punishment will be inflicted on the guilty."

Following are the jurors: L. H. Beck, foreman; P. H. H. Akers, R. R. Nash, Charles Heinz, H. G. Hubbard, John D. Wing, R. A. Redding, V. H. Kreigshaber, R. F. Sams, A. D. Adair, Sr., S. C. Glass, J. G. Bell, Cephas M. Brown, George A. Gershon, A. L. Guthman, Walker Dunson, W. L. Percy, C. A. Cowles, Sol Benjamin, R. F. Bell, H. M. Beutell, W. A. Bosser and Albert Boylston.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARD EVANGELIST HAWKINS

He Will Speak Again Monday Evening at West End Christian Church

Evangelist J. T. Hawkins spoke to large audiences at the West End Christian church Sunday, and there were accessions to the church at each service. It was announced that the subject for Monday evening will be "The Second Question of the Bible: Where Art Thou?"

Sunday evening Mr. Hawkins spoke on the theme, "The First Question of the Bible: Where Art Thou?" His sermon was in part as follows:

"If the story of Eden is not true, it ought to be, for the most natural thing is for a father to desire for his child a paradise, and it is also very natural for a child, having disobeyed his father, to wish to hide. And just as the earthly father asks concerning his child whose conscience has driven him away, so God asked of Adam, 'Where art thou?'

"We may assume one of three relations with God: we may be at enmity with Him, we may be in communion with Him, or we may be indifferent. But indifference towards God is termed enmity in the Scriptures. There are some questions upon which we can afford to be indifferent, but on moral questions to be indifferent is to be wrong."

POLICE INTERRUPT A SAFE-BLOWING PARTY

A bold attempt to rob the Ponce de Leon pharmacy at North Boulevard and Ponce de Leon avenue, early Monday morning, failed when burglars were frightened away before they had completed their task. The heavy steel safe was found by police in the center of the store when an investigation was made. It was unharmed, but it is believed that it had been moved from the rear of the building by the crackmen, who had intended to break it open. Nothing else in the place was disturbed.

Patrolman Gant discovered the front door of the store open shortly after midnight. He made a search of the first floor but could find no trace of the marauders. Later he summoned Motorcycle Policemen Jones and Horn and Patrolman David. The quartet of policemen went through the basement, but found nothing disturbed.

It is believed that a "lookout" on the outside of the building saw the officers coming and warned his accomplices inside in time for all to escape.

OLD CONFIDENCE GAME LANDS NEGRO IN JAIL

Freeman Jones, colored, was bound over to the city criminal court for working the oldest confidence game on record by Recorder Broyles Monday morning.

Jones, according to the testimony in the case, was walking along Decatur street last Saturday when he "found" a pocketbook containing a $100 bill. James Grigg, another negro, who was a few paces behind, saw him pick up the money.

Jones offered to split.

"You saw me find this. Now give me $50 and you can have the bill," he said to Grigg.

The latter gave up the money and found that the $100 was Confederate currency and worth about one-fourth of a cent, a minute later. He saw Jones on the street Sunday and caused his arrest.

TALLULAH FALLS MAN HAS DISAPPEARED HERE

Mrs. Thomas Smithson Fears Foul Play Has Befallen Husband

Telling his wife that he was coming to Atlanta to look after business interests, Thomas Smithson, aged fifty-one, master mechanic in a power plant at Tallulah Falls, Ga., left that town Wednesday and has not been seen by relatives or friends since. Monday morning Mrs. Smithson appealed to the police for aid in finding the missing man, and a search of the city is being conducted. She is almost frantic and declares that her husband must have been the victim of foul play.

Smithson is said to own several pieces of local real estate. His visit to this city Wednesday was for the purpose of arranging for the laying of a sidewalk in front of a house belonging to him at 180 Hampton street. It has been disclosed that he transacted this business, but this is the last trace of him the police are able to get. They can find no one who has seen him since that time.

Mrs. Smithson, who came to Atlanta Saturday, says that her husband's habits are regular and that his absence is unprecedented. She declared that he had told her he would return home on Thursday or Friday.

Smithson, is six feet three inches in height, weighs about 175, is smooth shaven and has black hair tinged with gray.

Mrs. Smithson is staying at the home of her brother, Alve Murdock, 55 Howell street.

WEDDING CULMINATES IN ALL DAY SINGING

Just as Evangelist R. C. Wooster was preparing to close the all-day singing at the Buckhead Baptist church with the benediction Sunday afternoon, he was interrupted by Rev. E. H. Peacock, pastor of the church at Buckhead, who asked that the services be held open a few minutes longer.

Miss Esther Olivia Webb and J. T. Hoffman, both members of the Baptist Tabernacle choir which had taken part in the singing, were conducted to the platform by Rev. Peacock, and standing there before the congregation were pronounced man and wife.

The wedding came as a distinct surprise to practically everyone present at the services, as only a few intimate friends of the contracting parties knew even that an engagement existed, and no intimation had been given of the impending ceremony.

The all-day singing proved a great success and was the most largely attended that has been held around Atlanta in some time. The monster basket dinner eaten under the trees at 1 o'clock was a most enjoyable feature.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

ATLANTA—The Girl from Out Yonder.
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

There are more stars on the program at the Forsyth this week than have been assembled for vaudeville here this season. There are seven Keith acts, each one a high representative in its distinctive character.

Gus Edwards' Kid Kabaret will be the headline feature. This is conceded to be one of the most important attractions in modern vaudeville. There are fifteen youngsters in the combination, all of whom have been given the value of the personal coaching of Gus Edwards, and it is remarkable that the act is in greater demand than the "Song Review," in which Mr. Edwards is now personally appearing. The act is set with its own special effects, and a complete colored performance is given. There are some very interesting entertainers in the company and a dozen of the newest Edwards songs will be introduced. One of these numbers was written by Frank L. Stanton and is a feature. Another star act will be the appearance of Belle Story for the first time here. This talented and pretty girl is a great favorite in the largest cities and will become popular here.

It is declared that Williams, Thompson and Copeland's "The Burglars Union," is one of the funniest acts in vaudeville. Among the others on the bill will be Hart's six steppers, a splendid dancing sextette; Rosner and Gores in a comedy creation; Eldora and company in comedy juggling, and the Musical Alvinos in a novelty musical act.

The Miss Billy Long company will open the third week of its summer engagement at the Atlanta theater this evening and will present "The Girl From Out Yonder," a comedy drama, which is sure to prove both interesting and entertaining. The role of Flotsam, daughter of the lighthouse keeper, will be played by Miss Long, and she is sure to win additional favor with Atlanta theater patrons in this sweet and girlish part. Edwin Vail, Joseph Kirkman, Allan Robinson, Ralph Marthy, Al Warren, Katheryn Sheldon and Mabel Inslee have been assigned roles well suited to them, and the production should prove the most successful yet given by this strong and well balanced company. Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, who is an Atlanta society girl, will play the part of Clarice Stapleton, and this will lend additional interest to tonight's performance.

Four out-of-the-ordinary acts have been billed for this week's Bijou show, and patrons of this popular vaudeville house have an unusual treat in store for them. The headliner will be The Four Musical Cates, considered the world's greatest musical act, consisting of Frank B. Cate, cornet virtuoso; Walter H. Cate, the world's best saxophone soloist, and Fred C. Cate, playing the largest and only saxophone of its size ever played. This is a big times act and its booking for the Bijou is unusual and should attract many who do not ordinarily attend a vaudeville performance. The other acts will be The Empire Three, offering popular and ragtime selections Miss Walsh, a pretty little soubrette, in character songs and changes, and Wesley & White, unique entertainers in song and dance. The very best of motion pictures are introduced to open and close each performance, rounding out a program that cannot fail to keep an audience amused and entertained. Two matinees are given on Monday and Saturday, and during the remainder of the week matinees are given at 2 o'clock. Night shows, 7:30 and 9.

DEMENTED CARPENTER IS DETAINED BY THE POLICE

"There's a conspiracy against me. I want to find out what it is," declared James K. Tupper, who says he is a carpenter and lives at 121 Plum street, to Chief of Police Beavers in the latter's office Monday morning. The police head was interested but suspicious. He eyed his visitor appraisingly.

"Oh, you know all about it," continued Tupper. "You ought to; you're in it, too. Now, I want that $62,000 check that you've got here for me." Then he told a weird story of how an attempt was being made to rob him.

At the conclusion of the tale, Chief Beavers concluded that the man was insane and that he would be safer locked in a cell. Tupper was forthwith taken into custody.

The carpenter's visit to the police station on Monday was his second. Last Friday he appeared at the detectives' office and wanted to borrow a gun.

"I just want to do a little shootin', he replied in answer to a query as to why he wanted the firearm.

Tupper's father appeared at the police station when he learned of his son's arrest, and said that he would ask that he be committed to an asylum by the ordinary. The youth has been demented for two years, following a sunstroke, according to the parent.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR REPORTS ON MEETING

Dr. Theo Toepel, physical director of the Atlanta public schools, has made a report to the board of education upon the proceedings of the American Physical Education association, at Newark, N. J., which he attended.

In this report he says:

"The dominating thought of the discussions was that schools must adapt themselves to changing social conditions. That in recent years there have been two great forward movements in the field of education, one being the great interest in industrial education, and the other equally great interest in physical education. It was shown that physical education being concerned with the conservation of the health of the child, has made even greater progress than industrial education, that through physical education there is created greater interest on the part of the children in the schools, teaching boys and girls how to use their leisure hours after school days are over, creating good conditions for pupil, teacher and principal in that it promotes good health in every department in school. Mr. Kendall, state school commissioner of New Jersey, paid a tribute to the physical educator, describing him as a 'valuable aid' to the regular teachers of the school."

WOMAN INSPECTORS FOR WORKING GIRLS URGED

Pastor Says Conditions Which Made Phagan Murder Possible Shouldn't Exist

In referring in his sermon Sunday morning to the murder of Mary Phagan, Dr. A. R. Holderby, of Moore Memorial church, said:

"It is unaccountable to me why people should be so hysterical and become so frightened because one demon has perpetrated a crime.

"This unmistakable crime is bad enough, and every effort should be made to find the guilty party—and every effort is being made by the detective departments—and this should satisfy the public.

"One lesson may be learned from this terrible tragedy and that is that the city cannot be too careful about the working girls, many of whom are occupying very exposed positions. It is the duty of the city to afford every protection to the working girls and it is the duty of every family to look carefully after their girls. There should be city inspectors (preferably women) whose duty it would be to look after the general condition and the treatment of the working girls of the city. If this were done there would not likely occur any such hideous crimes against pure and innocent girls."

BAPTIST ORPHANS RUN AWAY FROM HAPEVILLE

Clad only in their pajamas, James and Charles Johnson, aged six and eight years, slipped out of the dormitory in the Georgia Baptist Orphans' home in Hapeville Sunday night and made their escape from the building. They had not been found at noon, and local police were asked to institute a search of the city.

A score of residents of Hapeville searched the vicinity of the orphanage and the surrounding country. They could find no trace of the lads nor anyone who had seen them. How the boys left the town in their nightclothes is a mystery.

The boys lived at 164 Ferry street in Atlanta. An aunt, Mrs. Carrie Meade, resides at 24 Milledge avenue here. It is thought that the boys may seek refuge at her home.

The boys' absence was not discovered until daylight Monday, when the matron went to their beds and found them missing. The bed clothes had not been disturbed, and it is supposed that the tots left the building early in the night.

EXONERATION EXPECTED FOR ACCUSED ALDERMEN

Probe Committee's Report Will Clear Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling

The special committee of council which investigated Alderman McClelland's charges against Aldermen Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling will report to council Monday afternoon, and the report is expected to exonerate the defendants.

Alderman Maddox admits performing a subcontract for Chester A. Dady on two sewage disposal plants, but shows that City Attorney Mayson held the same to be legal.

Alderman Ragsdale admits being a partner with J. R. Lawhon in the horse and mule business, but denies that he ever used his official position to procure city business for Lawhon.

Alderman Spratling admits borrowing money from several near-beer dealers, but claims he borrowed the money before he was elected or nominated for alderman.

On these showings the investigating committee will clear the aldermen of wrongdoing, it is said.

Of course, if council adopts the report, which it will, Mayor Woodward will veto it, and council then will adopt it over his veto.

Meanwhile, Alderman McClelland has been granted leave of absence, owing to his illness, and has not indicated whether he will continue his fight on the defendant aldermen.

Another investigating committee probably will report to council Monday afternoon, and it also will be in the nature of an exoneration. It is the committee which investigated the fire department and Fire Chief W. R. Cummings. The committee is expected to report that it does not believe R. E. Davidson, who swore that he gave Chief Cummings $400 "rakeoff" on the purchase of the Ninth ward automobile fire apparatus.

This report is likewise unsatisfactory to Mayor Woodward and he will doubtless veto council's adoption of it.

The mayor is now training his guns on the contract for the new fire alarm system, which is another of those "moral obligations" bequeathed to him by the Winn administration. The contract calls for a complete system, for which the city shall pay $106,000. The mayor declares that is too much. He may refuse to sign checks in payment of the money, as he is doing in light on the crematory contract.

MAN'S MIND GREATEST GIFT, SAYS DR. ROBINS

Pastor of Trinity Says Unused Faculties of Thought Are Sad to Behold

"Man's thought is free," said Dr. J. B. Robins Sunday evening at Trinity church, in one of a series of strong sermons. "His right to think for himself is his greatest gift from God, and through it he approaches the infinite mind."

"There is no limitation to the human mind," declared the pastor, "and through the exercise of thought comes a perception of the relation of humanity to the world about us. It is sad to witness the atrophy of brain which one sees so frequently. Men fail to use their power of thought; their perceptions are blunted, and particularly do they fail to see the beautiful in the world around them.

"Beauty conveys a message to the soul from God, and deepens spiritual repose. It prepares the way for the glories of the after-life."

SEWER TO BE CLOSED PAST PONCE DE LEON

County Board Orders Work to Start May 15 on Needed Task

Shelby Smith, chairman of the board of county commissioners, announces that work will begin about May 15 on the new trunk sewer through the eastern and northern section of Atlanta. The completion of this will eliminate the open sewer under the bleachers at Ponce de Leon park and the open sewer at Piedmont park. The public works committe has been authorized formally to proceed with this work.

The entire line of sewer will not be completed before next year, but it was stated, every effort will be made to rush to a rapid completion the open portions that annoy the patrons of Piedmont and Ponce de Leon parks. The line of the sewer will connect with the Buttle street sewer and with that part running from the beginning of Highland avenue toward Inman park. The cost will be about $250,000.

It is planned to turn the sewer into Peachtree creek beyond the city limits, but it is stated that eventually it may be turned into the new disposal plant in the north Peachtree district. The sewer will be about 9,000 feet in length.

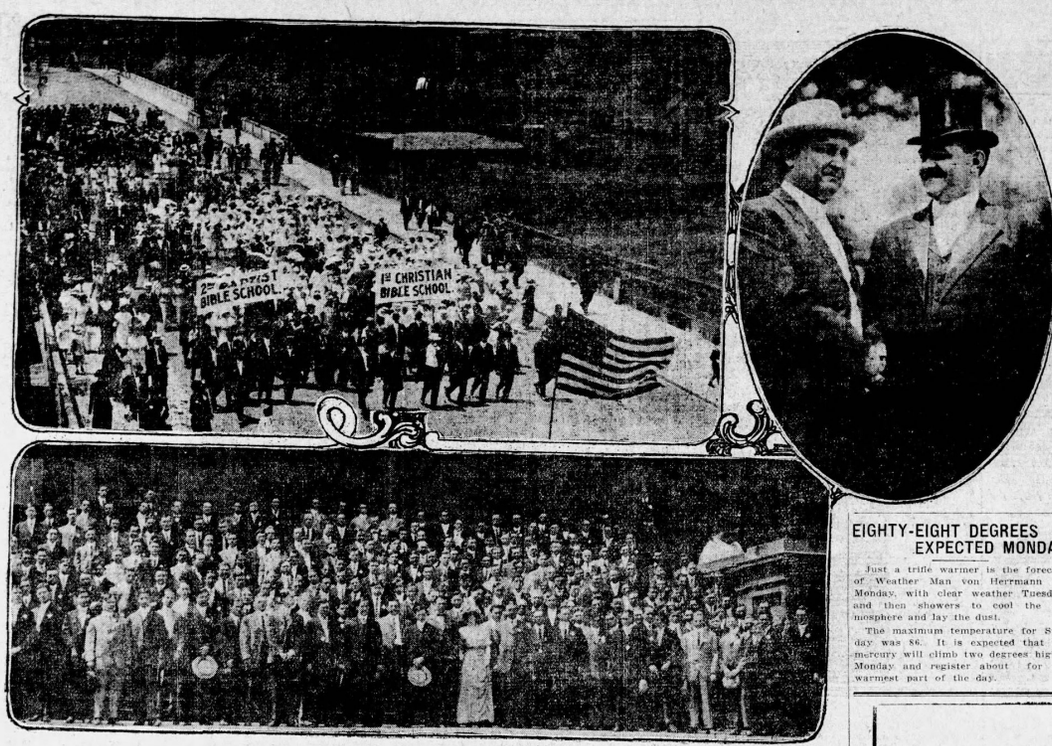
QUAIL EATING CORN, IS ONE FARMER'S COMPLAINT

Jesse Mercer, the state game warden, is up against it. The quail of the state that he has so strenuously protected, he is informed, are eating up young corn, and farmers want permission to kill them.

J. J. Hill, the Telfair county game warden, wrote Mr. Mercer that M. Jones, a Telfair farmer, complained of quail eating two plantings of his corn, and he wanted permission to shoot the birds.

The warden hasn't done anything yet. He doesn't want to see the game law violated and yet he hates to think of a farmer losing his corn crop. It is the first time he ever heard of quail eating corn plantings, said he.

TWO ATLANTA SUNDAY SCHOOLS FORM A MULTIDUDE



Scenes when the Second Baptist and the First Christian Sunday schools of Atlanta assembled yesterday at the capitol and marched to a big joint meeting that filled the auditorium. On the left is shown the first section of the great parade across the Washington street viaduct. On the right Dr. John E. White and Dr. L. O. Bricker, the pastors of the two churches, are exchanging a hand-clasp of fellowship. In the lower picture appears the young men's class of T. J. Day, Second Baptist school, with nearly 600 members present.

ATLANTA PASTORS SPENT BUSY DAY ON SABBATH

Dr. E. M. Poteat, G. B. Raymond and Rev. John T. Hawkins Among Visitors

Atlanta pastors and visiting ministers spent the usual busy day Sunday, many of them preaching on topics drawn from current events.

Dr. E. M. Poteat, president of Furman university, preached at the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday night on "National Stewardship." Dr. Poteat spoke of the worldwide trend toward democracy, and praised "the great good" being accomplished by the Roman aCtholic shurch in the line of social service endeavor.

A fair sized audience heard G. B. Raymond at the Grand opera house during the afternoon on "How God Saves All Men." "All men go to heaven because of God's sacrifice," he said, "that is the way that God has saved all men."

Dr. Hugh K. Walker at the First Presbyterian church, urged his hearers to "follow the example of Paul—keep on trying to attain whatever you seek, no matter what difficulties you meet, and, like Paul, keep happy and smiling while you are doing it."

Rev. W. E. Hill, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church, preached at the Central Presbyterian church in the absence of the pastor, Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden. He declared that one of the greatest needs of the churches of America is more consecration among church workers.

Rev. John T. Hawkins preached to a big congregation at the West End Christian church on the subject, "Working Together with God."

Rev. H. H. Proctor, colored, gave a sermon at the First Congregational church, colored, Sunday night on "Woman's Share in the Work of the Upbuilding of Her People."

COUNCIL TO INDORSE SEMI-CENTENNIAL PLAN

Celebration in 1914 Suggested by Chamber of Commerce to Get City's Support

A resolution indorsing the celebration of the semi-centennial of the battle of Atlanta will be introduced in council Monday afternoon by Alderman J. R. Nutting.

Such a celebration, to be held in 1914, is now being considered by the chamber of commerce, and the Nutting resolution is directed to that body.

The resolution says the celebration would bring together in fraternal concourse a large number of visitors from all sections of the reunited country, and, therefore, council pledges its official indorsement and support.

Alderman Nutting will also introduce a resolution instructing the finance committee and the water board to consider at once the purchase of another 10,000,000-gallon centrifugal pump for the river station.

INSULT TO WOMAN IS CHARGE AGAINST THEM

J. F. Morrison and C. M. Baker, both telegraph operators, giving their address as 147 Cooper street, will face Recorder Broyles in police court Monday afternoon on the charge of insulting a white woman on Decatur street Sunday night.

It is alleged Morrison and Baker were drunk. Both are said to have approached a man and his wife as they walked down the street and caught the woman by the arm, exclaiming, "Oh, you kid."

The blanket charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, stands against the men at the station.

TWO SUNDAY SCHOOLS HELD A GIANT MEET IN AUDITORIUM

First Christian and Second Baptist Had 6,300 Scholars Present Sunday Morning, When March Began to Joint Meeting—First Christian Sets New World's Record With 4,129 in Attendance

Not even the most sanguine among the enthusiasts in the contest between the Second Baptist Bible school and the school of the First Christian church, anticipated such a meeting as the two schools held yesterday, jointly, in the auditorium. The big interior was crowded, as it had been a week previously with grand opera audiences. The attendance, the weather, everything, were better than anybody had expected.

"It was a glorious occasion, full of inspiration for every one," declared Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist, Monday.

Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian, was equally emphatic in his praise.

"It was wonderful," said he. "Marvelous. It surpasser everybody's experience and imagination. It was unique, and one hardly knows how to compare it. It made a profound impression on everybody who participated and everybody who witnessed it."

A. M. Beatty, who laid down the challenge in behalf of the First Christian school to Colonel E. J. Paxon, who accepted it for the Second Baptist, summed it up as "Fine! We couldn't have asked for anything better." Colonel Paxon, in Philadelphia on his wedding tour, had to miss the big occasion which he helped to plan, but he sent telegrams showing his interest. Superintendent C. V. LeCraw, of the First Christian school, and John S. Spalding, of the Second Baptist, were elated over the success of the day.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

A new world's record for Sunday school attendance was established. The First Christian Sunday school scored 4,129 present, thereby displacing the record of 3,800 made some time ago by another Christian Sunday school, in Canton, Ohio, biggest among all denominations in the country.

The original plan for the meeting Sunday was that the two schools should meet in the auditorium of one or the other, on the last Sunday of the contest, and the winners should tell the losers thow victory was won. But long ago this had to be abandoned. No church in Atlanta could hold the two schools. The auditorium was engaged, but for the Sunday preceding the end of the contest. It had been reserved already for next Sunday.

The two schools assembled in their respective quarters at 9:3 o'clock, and after a short song service the count was made and the score for the day was compiled. Then they met, for the first time, on the grounds of the state capitol, marching from there across the viaduct to the auditorium. The moving picture men and newspaper photographers were busy, snapping them as they marched. The moving picture films were sent to New York Sunday night, to be developed and returned. They will be shown at the Savoy in Atlanta soon.

The program of speeches and songs at the auditorium was made conspicuous by the bigness of the chorus, the whole gathering of over 7,000 people, young and old, joining in the songs. Addresses were made by Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist, and Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christ. Greetings were read from the Central Presbyterian Sunday school; and John J. Eagan and Marion Jackson, superintendent and assistant in that school, sat upon the platform. Dr. Percy J. Starnes rendered solos and accompaniments upon the tremendous organ, and Mrs. Starnes delighted the big audience with a vocal solo. Announcement of the score for the day and the total to date was received with enthusiastic applause. Following were the figures given out:

	First Christian.	Baptist.
Attendance	4129	2,199
New scholars	776	709
Points scored	10,987	9,550
Contest standing to date	55,344	48,085

With its standing over 7,000 points ahead, the First Christian Sunday school seems to have won the contest, and the results of next Sunday's final gathering is not liable to change materially the relative standing.

BOTH HAVE WON.

But the matter of winning or losing has been lost to sight in the wonderful development that the contest has brought to both of the schools. The attitude of the two schools is that both have won. The picnic that the loser was pledged to give to the winner, has become a joint affair, and the First Christian scholars will carry as well-filled baskets as those of the Second Baptist scholars, and everybody's feast will be spread together. The date and place of the picnic have not yet been fixed.

The joint executive committee will hold its weekly meeting at 5 o'clock Monday and probably will fix then the details of the picnic.

The attention of the country has been attracted to Atlanta by this contest. The religious journals of the two churches have printed news of it, and recently, in its latest issue, the Christian Herald, an interdenominational periodical of national circulation, carried a complete description of the contest.

$20,000 DAMAGE IS DONE BY ARAGON HOTEL FIRE

All Guests Got Out Without Hurt Sunday Afternoon

Fire in the Aragon hotel early Sunday afternoon spread through the fifth and sixth floors. All the guests escaped without injury, although there were some close escapes. The damage will amount to $15,000 or $20,000.

Henry Reese, a negro porter, discovered the fire in the rear roof at 2:34 o'clock. Before the engines arrived the fourth and fifth floors were filled with flame and smoke.

H. A. Tisdell, the clerk on duty, tried to get the guests out without panic, but in a few moments the corridors were crowded with people trying to get out.

Miss Katherine Wright, the telephone operator, showed her heroism by staying on duty until all the guests had been notified of the fire, and H. A. Tisdell, the clerk, had almost to carry two women, Mrs. Agnes Turner and Mrs. Ladd, from the fifth floor to the lobby. Mrs. J. W. Baker became hysterical and would have jumped had not a fireman stopped her in time.

H. A. Longshore and Chess Haile, two resident guests, used fire extinguishers, and Dick Franklin, a vaudeville actor, brought several women down from the top floor, and Miss Helen Rice, an actress, helped several old ladies down the stairs.

Henry Reed, negro elevator man, ran his elevator until the police made him stop.

EIGHTY-EIGHT DEGREES EXPECTED MONDAY

Just a trifle warmer is the forecast of Weather Man von Herrmann for Monday, with clear weather Tuesday, and then showers to cool the atmosphere and lay the dust.

The maximum temperature for Sunday was 86. It is expected that the mercury will climb two degrees higher Monday and register about for the warmest part of the day.

The Cost of Smoke.

Chicago moves steadily forward in its anti-smoke campaign. Recently published reports estimate that the city's annual loss from excessive smoke is more than eighteen million dollars and that of this sum the railroads are responsible for some eight millions. Impressive as these figures are, they are not to be considered as discouraging; for, the Chicago movement against soot and cinders has produced appreciable results and, what is perhaps most important of all, it has awakened public energy in plans for relief.

The individual citizen has come to recognize that his business, his health and his other vital interests are suffering from unrestricted smoke. It is reckoned that a yearly expense of fifteen dollars is entailed on every Chicago family as a result of locomotive smoke alone; and this monetary loss is insignificant when compared with the discomforts and the perils to health that accompany it. The fact now being stressed in Chicago is that the evils of excessive smoke are visited not only upon the city as a whole, but also upon each citizen and each family. The loss is specific, not merely general.

This is equally true of Atlanta where the anti-smoke campaign which was nominally begun several seasons ago, is just now getting well under way. Every Atlantian has vital cause to be interested in this movement. His business and his health are directly injured by the clouds of smoke that are belched forth in the city's center from locomotives and from defective or clumsily fired furnaces. The smoke inspector merits the public's earnest support and co-operation in the efforts he is making to remedy these ills. The important fact to remember is that such work must be continued steadily month after month and year after year, if we are to get due results.

The Free Organ Concerts.

The resumption of the free organ concerts at the Auditorium is a matter of keen delight to music-loving Atlantians and a fresh reminder of this community's continual debt to the Music Festival Association. The recital yesterday afternoon was one of the most distinctive and enjoyable Dr. Starnes has ever given, its particularly notable features being the intermezzo from Puccini's "Manon Lescaut," which was heard during grand opera week, and the overture from "Die Meistersinger." The audience attested both by its size and responsiveness the public's appreciation of the Sunday afternoon concerts.

In such opportunities as these, Atlanta is singularly fortunate. It should be remembered that they are made possible through the Music Festival Association, which not only gives the city a glorious week of opera each year, but also sustains and feeds the taste for good music the twelvemonth through. Dr. Starnes, one of the most gifted organists and interpreters of music in the nation or in the world, is retained by the Association at its own expense. The programs which he renders from Sunday to Sunday are within themselves an education, if regularly and sympathetically attended; and often, they are enriched with vocal selections from singers of rare attainment.

These concerts, as has often been stated, are entirely free to the public. But it should be remembered that voluntary contributions to defray their actual cost are accepted; and it will be well for audiences to bear this fact in mind. A nominal contribution from every one who hears the Sunday afternoon concerts would suffice to pay the expenses involved and would assure their permanency.

Where the public receives so much and so generously, it should be eager to give a small measure of financial support in return.

"Local Color" in School Work.

At the recent meeting of the Georgia Educational Association, Chancellor David C. Barrow made a most timely and stimulating talk on the importance o. putting local color into school work. It is well enough, he said, to teach children the story of distant lands and of ancient heroes, but is even more essential to quicken their sympathies and enlighten their minds to the things that lie about them in their daily life.

If it be true that we need a knowledge of the past fully to understand the present and that in order to interpret our own age we must know something of the centuries from which it has evolved, it is none the less true we must know the present in order to appreciate the past. If education is to be vital, it must begin with what is vital and intimate; and a child will best find his way into the wisdom of books along the paths of his own human experience.

Yet, it happens not infrequently that a pupil knows, or seems to know, more of classic Hellas than of modern Georgia and, while able to discourse fluently enough on the statesmen of the age of Pericles, is remarkably ignorant of the public leaders in his own nation or commonwealth. He may be familiar with the fauna and flora of faraway lands and yet have no discernment of the resources or of the natural beauty and wonder of his home county.

Chancellor Barrow wisely insists that the school room take a richer account of local interests, that children be taught to recognize the value and to seek the meaning of the things in which they live and move each day. It is thus that the pupil will be inspired to a quest of all truth and will come to interpret all knowledge in terms of real life; it is thus that he will be vitally educated.

Balkan Jealousies.

One of the remarkable aspects of the Balkan war is the steadfastness with which the Allies have maintained a solid front against Turkey. With rare skill and self-restraint, they have put aside their internal differences, forgotten their old enmities, ignored the rivalries which the future is certain to provoke and have struck one united blow after another for a common cause.

Particularly manifest has this policy been in their the peace conference held some months ago in London, the Turkish envoys made divers cunning efforts, to turn the members of the Balkan alliance one against the other. They appealed to the special interest of Bulgaria, of Greece and of Servia, hoping that by an offer of advantageous tterms to one of these States they could break the compact agreement. But the Allies stuck to their united demands with the result that both Turkey and the Powers have finally had to accept these terms.

That has been the course thus far, but now there are rumors that the Allies are on the verge of a break among themselves. Having fought and planned together for the conquest of the Turk, they may now fall out over the prize they have so bravely and hardly won. They have been held together by the pressure of common interests and a common foe; that removed, they are in danger of a split through individual jealousies and ambitions.

The Bulgarians and the Greeks have and old feud which centers in the domination of the Greek church, Bulgaria and Servia were at war less than thirty years ago. Each of the three is now stirred with new ambitions; each will watch the other more or less suspiciously; and, to complicate matters, there are the claims of little Montenegro and the question of boundaries for future Albania.

It has frequently been suggested that the Balkan States will form a federation so that the political status of each of them may be more strongly maintained. Such a plan would undoubtedly aid in preserving the alliance which has proved so valuable throughout the war.

Montenegro's Second Thought

If it be true, as dispatches indicate, that King Nicholas and a council of his generals have decided to evacuate Scutari, the sharp issue between Montenegro and the Powers is approaching a peaceful settlement. It was rumored several days ago that Montenegro would consent to give up its Albanian prize, temporarily at least, if it were assured of com*pensation and it was understood* that substantial pensation, and it was understood that substantial and the principal Balkan States are doubtless willing to do all they can to hasten the plans for harmony.

There comes other stories, however, to the effect that the Montenegrin ministry has resigned as protest against the suggested evacuation of Scutari and that Austria and Italy are preparing for a joint investment of Albania. Such a movement would be decidedly distasteful to Russia. "It is realized," says a statement from St. Petersburg, "that the fate of Albania involves a deeper concern than Scutari and it is declared that in the interest of European peace and the welfare of the Balkan States, Russia will do everything possible to prevent the occupation of Albania. If she is not successful in this, Russia will insist that all the great Powers participate." It is evident that the problem raised by Montenegro is far-reaching and that the most painstaking diplomacy is necessary to avert widespread trouble for Europe.

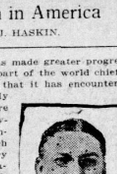
Presbyterianism in America

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.



The Presbyterian church has made greater progress in America than in any other part of the world chiefly no doubt because of the fact that it has encountered no violent opposition. Nearly 2,000,000 communicants were recorded to the various Presbyterian bodies by the last census and the value of the church property owned in this country by the Presbyterian organizations approximates $200,000,000 an equivalent of $100 investment in church property for each in dividual member. In addition to this several millions of dollars worth of property is controlled by the Presbyterian missionary organizations of this country.

* * *

While the first Presbyterian church in America is credited to New England, the greatest development of the denomination in its early history was through the Scotch-Irish colonists who settled in Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland. Rev. Francis Makemie was sent from an irish presbytery to this country in 1683, and he traveled as far south as Georgia, and as far north as New York, and preached Presbyterianism in many places in a manner not widely different from the Itinerant Methodist preachers who followed later. Makemie settled at Rehobeth, Md., and established churches at both Rehobeth and Snow Hill He suffered arrest and imprisonment for preaching without a license in New York during the time when Governor Cornbury's administration was endeavoring to establish the supremacy of the Church of England. The Presbyterian preacher was a man of many parts, however, and his vigorous defense of himself and the light he threw upon matters connected with Governor Cornbury's administration is said to have been responsible for the latter's recall to England.

* * *

The first presbytery of this country was organized in 1705 in Philadelphia with Makemie as its first moderator. Seven ministers were included in the first membership, and all but one of these was from the old world. The native American was Jediah Andrews, a graduate of Harvard and the pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Philadelphia. At that time Philadelphia was the most northern point represented, and the other Presbyterian church organizations in America were small and weak. During the ten years following the Philadelphia presbytery increased to sixteen ministers, most of whom came over from England, Scotland or Ireland. Despite the fact that the colonists were poor and struggling and that the supply of clergymen fell far below the need, the Philadelphia assembly, or synod, as it was afterwards called, exacted adequate credentials and assurances of orthodoxy and good character from all who attempted to preach. In 1710 a young Welshman undertook to preach to the people of the Welsh tract without a license, but he was promptly rebuked and required to go under competent direction that he might be educated for the sacred office. He was not ordained until 1715.

* * *

The first Scotch-Irish Presbyterians settled in Maryland and adjoining states, but as the persecution they received at home from the re-established Church of England drove increasing numbers to America they began from 1713 on to settle in the New England states where they were not cordially welcomed at first. It was not until 1720 that they attempted to build themselves a church at Worcester, Mass., and then "the people gathered by night and hewed down and demolished the structure," the historian adding that even "persons of consideration and respectability aided in the riotous work." In New Hampshire they met with less opposition and their first presbytery constituted in 1729 was called by them the presbytery of Londonderry, and by their neighbors "the Irish presbytery."

* * *

The first institution devoted to teaching the Presbyterian doctrine was "The Log College," opened at Neshaminy river, just north of Philadelphia, by William Tennent in 1726. William Tennent had been in Episcopal orders, but he had married the daughter of an eminent Presbyterian minister. Chiefly through her influence he was induced to renounce the prelatic form of church government and was admitted for reordination in the synod. His son, Gilbert, was his first disciple in the Presbyterian ministry, but a number of others went forth from Nashaminy academy as the Log college became known in its later history, among them Samuel Blair and John Rowland.

* * *

The coming of George Whitefield to the United States upon his evangelical tour brought about a division in the Presbyterian church in 1741. The two factions in this division became known as the Old side and the New Side. The Old Side remained the Philadelphia presbytery, while the New York presbytery was formed to represent the New Side. The Old Side and the New Side. The Old Side regained the that only ministers who had been educated in the old country ought to be accepted; while the New Side, with the Tennents as leaders, insisted upon the right of the presbytery to license the graduates of such institutions as Nesbaminy academy, in view of the great need of preachers. There were some differences regarding doctrines also, partially due to the great "awakening" of religious conviction brought about by Whitefield and other evangelical preachers of the period.

* * *

The division between the Old and New sides at this time had a potent influence upon the educational interest of the Presbyterian church. While William and Gilbert Tennent insisted that the presbytery should lay less stress upon college training and more upon the evidence that the candidate be a regenerate man, they were men of too high mental attainments themselves to advocate an illiterate clergy. Consequently the New York presbytery made early application for a charter for a college which was opened in Elizabethtown, N. J., in 1746, under the direction of Jonathan Dickinson, one of the best scholars in the church. At his death Aaron Burr was chosen to succeed him, and in 1755 the college was transferred to Princeton. Upon the death of Burr, Jonathan Edwards was chosen president, but this distinguished divine also died before his connection had any important bearing upon the college, so the credit of organizing Princeton college, which has had so great an influence upon Presbyterianism, must be given to Dr. Samuel Davies.

* * *

Princeton stands a monument to the New Side, but it must not be inferred that the Old Side of the presbytery of Philadelphia made no effort to provide educational facilities for training young ministers in America. Immediately after the division, this presbytery took up the Academy of New London, taught by Francis Allison, known at that time as the "best Latin scholar in America," and made arrangements with Yale college for the further training of its graduates. This arrangement did not amount to much, however, and in 1748 Allison went to Philadelphia to accept a position in the academy opened in that city by Benjamin Franklin.

* * *

Throughout the whole period of separation efforts had been made for a reunion, and this was the more easily brought about as, notwithstanding its attitude for certain evangelical tenets, the New York presbytery gave constant evidence of sobriety and orthodoxy. In 1758 a plan of union was adopted in which the Old, or Philadelphia, presbytery practically carried its point, questions growing out of the "awakening" being compromised. It was provided that candidates for the ministry should be examined as to their "experimental acquaintance with religion" no less than as to their learning and orthodoxy. In 1788, after the Revolutionary war, a general assembly was formed which included most of the Presbyterian bodies in America. This assembly represented 419 congregations and 288 ministers.

THE GHOST SHIP

BY DR. FRANK CRANE
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

At the foot of Seventy-ninth street in New York City, in the still waters of the Hudson, lies the oldest ship in the world, the convict ship Success.

It is a ghost. It comes upon the imagination as the toothless, clawless spectre of the past, that grim mother whose progeny still paralyzes the Present and clogs the Future.

In this ship England once sent her criminals to the Australian penal colonies. It is all sweet and clean now; mothers lead their children to peer into its cells occupied by wax figures. An enterprising manager has fitted it up as an exhibition, has shown it in England and now brings it to America.

It is a ghost, the ghost of an idea that, although dead and damned, still infests men's minds, the idea that punishment abates crime.

Here you see punishment raised to its highest power. The record of the cruelties here practiced by the English people is so frightful that no one can be blamed for not believing it; the truth is more incredible than the wildest fiction. It is impossible to believe the story, yet it is perfectly authentic.

In cells about five by six feet square, without light and with little air, four or five hunman beings were chained, their filth cleaned out but twice a week, their bodies attacked by the gnawing of the vermin. They were flogged upon the least occasion, their raw wounds were washed with salt sea water. Every devilish ingenuity was employed to make their existence a hell.

It is not a hundred years ago that over 145 offenses in England were punishable by death. The hangmen were kept so busy that convict ships were invented as being more terrible than death. Women and children were sentenced to transportation for stealing a fourcent pie or a square of bleached linen. The world, ostensibly worshipping Christ in majestic cathedrals, in practice outdid the devil in hideous inhumanity.

Perhaps the most appealing thing to be seen in this ghost-ship is the cells and waxen presentment of "The Six Men of Dorset."

Born in 1804, George Lovelace became a farm laborer. He got $1.75 a week. Anxious to better the condition of himself and his fellows, he organized a "Laborers' society" to secure 25 cents increase. There were six members of this pioneer trades union, the famous "Six Men of Dorset," whose names should be dear to every workingman today struggling for his rights: they were George and James Lovelace, James Hammett, Thomas Stanfield, James, Brine and one named Clark.

When they presented humbly their requests the landowners and farmers made reply that from $1.75 their wages would be henceforth reduced to $1.50 to teach them a lesson; and, furthermore, if they complained again they would be arrested for conspiracy. A proclamation was issued threatening "to punish any man with seven years' transportation who joined a trade society." The "six men" were duly sentenced to seven years' transportation in Botany Bay. They served three years in the hell ship Success and in the chain gangs of Australia before the British conscience awoke, and, after great popular uprisings, they were pardoned.

Out of the past this ghost ship sails to us. Its solid oak we can touch. Its rusty iron manacles are all too tangible. Its hideous cells our feet may explore. Its appalling record books and documents we can see with our own eyes. Yet it is not true. It cannot be true. It is more monstrous than fiction.

God! to think that people of English blood could ever have held theories of life and of society in which such things were possible! And to think that even today there are those who still cry "Punish! punish!" while over all the great Christ repeats his two thousand year old message, "Heal! Help! Cure!"

Behold the Man Beautiful

Now dull utility has given way
To smiling pulchritude in man's attire,
And strolling down the street he looks like a House afire!

From nifty hat with bow set in the back,
To shoes of tan and gayly spangled sock,
He is as gorgeous as a circus hack,
Or peacock.

A joy forever he, well clothed, well kept,
And save that he's devoid of charm and grace,
Has too much hands and feet—he's fine! except
His face.

Undoubtedly, however, he has class—
That's proved by humankind's much fairer half,
Who nudge each other when they see him pass,
And laugh.

Gone is the homely maid—or going fast,
With stunt music, and with manner rude;
Now looms upon us from the dreadful past
The dude.

"Nay, spare our field!" the threatened women wept,
"When you seek beauty, womankind you rob.
Beware Narcissus' fate—meanwhile we'll keep
On the job!"

"The Mosque of Italy"

Hamlin Garland, essayist, novelist and lecturer, in a recent address to the Hamilton club, said:

"Venice is the world's Coney Island. It is a show place supported by visiting suckers, and the show is so old and moth-eaten that it is a wonder any American falls for it. There is some beauty of architecture, but the city has a petrified system to fleece all visitors.

"Venice is a poor, old, slimy piece of scenery. All the so-called canals outside the grand canal are sewers. It is the home of mosquitoes and the field of malaria. Every inhabitant is a grafter, especially the hotel owners and gondoliers.

"The Doge's palace is mediaeval bunk and the Bridge of Sighs Byronic bunk. The air is bad, and most of the money handed tourists is counterfeit. The gondolier is a brigand, and his merry song usually precedes a robbery of his passengers. The waiters are thieves, who take your good Italian money and hand you counterfeit in change."—New York World.

"The Americans," writes Filson Young in the "Saturday Review," "have a polite habit, on being presented to a new acquaintance, of uttering the words, 'Pleased to meet you'; although upon what the pleasure can rest, or how they know that it is a pleasure, or why an ordinary incident which is not the fulfillment of any anticipation, and which may turn out to be very disagreeable, should be pronounced at sight to be pleasant, I have never been able to understand."

"Hoity toity, Mr. Young! How easy the game of ridicule is when you splinter the rules! Americans doubtless do say that as an introduction commonplace—but what Americans? The Pleased-to-Meet-You Set probably read books on etiquette and employ the postage stamp flirtation.

The British, one might say—were one writing on space, in the manner of the writers for the London weeklies—have a curious habit, on being presented to a new acquaintance, of uttering the words "How do you do, Mr. Emdash?"; although the question seldom is answered and the querist's interest is merely perfunctory. Besides, "do" is a transitive verb and it sounds as though the sentence were unfinished. How do you do what?

MAYOR HAS NOT SEEN CITY'S NEW CREMATORY

Says He Is Satisfied With Having Seen Similar Plants in Other Cities

Asked Monday if he had taken a look at the new crematory, which is rapidly progressing toward completion, Mayor Woodward said he had not, and probably would not.

"I have seen similar plants built by the Destructor company in other cities, and I am satisfied from them that Atlanta is paying too much for the plant here," said he.

The local plant has been visited by perhaps a majority of the members of council, going at one time and another, and their opinion is that it is one of the best pieces of work ever done in Atlanta.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley, an experienced engineer, who started out as an opponent of the crematory, declares that he never saw more perfect construction.

Captain R. M. Clayton, the city's chief of construction, says the workmanship in the plant is as fine as any he ever saw.

However, as the mayor points out, the plant, when it is finished, must live up to the Destructor company's guarantee as to cost of operation, before the contract will have been wholly performed, and it is on this point that the mayor expects his contentions to be justified. He professes to believe that the plant will not be able to burn garbage as cheaply as the contract requires.

The company's engineer in charge of the work says he will have one unit ready to begin burning garbage by June 15.

CONFERENCE TUESDAY ON BATTLE SEMI-CENTENNIAL

Invitations From Chamber of Commerce to Discuss Advisability Are Sent Out

At 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a conference will be held in the chamber of commerce rooms on the fifth floor of the Empire building to determine whether or not Atlanta shall celebrate next year the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Atlanta.

This question was submitted to President Milton L. Moore, of the chamber of commerce, to the directors of that body; and they adopted a resolution requesting him to call into conference representatives of the leading patriotic organizations and representative citizens and ask them to consider the feasibility and advisability of undertaking the proper observance of the semi-centennial.

Invitations to the conference have been forwarded through the mails.

DODD WILL LEAVES $100,000 TO MERCER

$100,000 Also Left to Georgia Baptist Orphans' Home, Other Bequests

The will of Mrs. Barbara C. Dodd was filed in the ordinary's office on Monday.

As it will not be probated for several weeks yet, it was not possible to find out just what the terms of the instrument are.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Dodd left $100,000 to Mercer university and a similar sum to the Georgia Baptist Orphans' home.

A bequest of $5,000 was made to Henry E. Dibble, and a small bequest to Mrs. Fannie T. Ackerman. A bequest was also made to the Old Ladels' home, but its size is not known.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—An attitude of silence toward the tuberculosis "cure" of Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann will be maintained by constituent societies of the American Congress of Physicians and Surgeons, which begins a session here tomorrow. It was possible, it was said, that the subject would be referred to in open discussion, but the policy of the congress was one of silence.

CAUSE OF IMPURE BLOOD

Druggist Tells of Best Remedy

Pure healthy blood is a most essential factor to good health.

Poor, thin, devitalized blood may be caused by a weakness of the digestive organs, an accumulation of waste matter in the system, an inactive liver or lack of exercise.

Whatever the cause the best remedy we know is our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It will purify and enrich the blood, tone up the digestive organs, give you a healthy appetite and create strength.

A case has just come to our attention from Schenectady, N. Y. Mrs. Hafle Hall says, "I was forcibly reminded that my system was run down and my blood in bad condition by an abscess forming in my side which required treatment for several weeks. Under the regular use of Vinol to purify and enrich my blood and build up my strength this was soon healed, and my general health was much improved."

If you have the slightest indication of poor blood take Vinol. If it fails to help you we will give back your money. Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

SATURDAY'S EGG HUNT WAS THE BEST EVER

This Will Be the Committee's Report to Park Board Tuesday Afternoon

The committee which managed the details of the Easter egg hunt at Grant park last Saturday will report to the park board Tuesday afternoon that the park board Tuesday afternoon that it most successful ever held.

These hunts, given annually by The Journal and the park board, have grown to the point where they attract probably the largest number of children assembled at any event of the year. The children regard them as an established institution and look forward to them as to Christmas and other regular holidays.

In breaking over the boundary lines a few minutes before the signal from the band, the children last Saturday in no wise marred the pleasure of the occasion. The eggs were on the ground, ready for them, the prize eggs were hidden, and all other preparations were complete.

As a matter of fact, the premature start of the hunt made it all the more fun, both for the children and the grownups, instead of doing any harm.

The committee's report to the park board will give detailed information as to the cost, list of subscribers to the fund, prize winners, etc.

The members of the committee are as follows: T. Puckett, chairman; T. L. Bond, R. A. Burnett and C. I. Brannan.

THOMAS GARNER RETURNS TO HOME NEAR LITHONIA

Thomas Garner, the young man who Saturday night one week ago disappeared from his home near Lithonia, Ga., returned to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Garner, Monday morning shortly after his brother-in-law, W. J. Cooper, had enlisted the support of the local police and the sheriff of DeKalb county to help locate him.

Garner, who resides with his parents about three miles from Lithonia, went to the little town for some Sunday groceries. He had not been seen nor heard from since and the report of a negro man that a fight between three white men near his home had occurred there on that night led relatives and friends to believe that the man had met with foul play.

DIGITALIS AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

There are more cases of Bright's Disease on Digitalis and Basham's Mixture than anything else. One is for the heart and the other is an iron tonic. Yet if the case is chronic the books admit the outcome will be failure.

Then why give them?—Because there is nothing in the pharmacopeia to counteract degeneration in the kidneys which is the real trouble and by holding up the heart and giving a tonic the patient may last a little longer.

But is it not clear that if an agent has been worked out that counteracts Renal degeneration and thus prevents the escape of albumen that there is hope? That is the motive of Fulton's Renal Compound, a new result not reached by the pharmacopeia. That it gets this result can be proven by chemists with a little Picric and Citric acid.

We know of no chronic cases recovering under Digitalis and Basham's Mixture without Fulton's Renal Compound but thousands are getting results under the Renal Compound without Digitalis or Basham's Mixture. But they can be continued if necessary. There is no conflict.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Frank Edmondson & Bros., 11 N. Broad street, and 106 N. Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease, or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.—(Advt.)

FIVE MAKERS BID ON AUTO FIRE APPARATUS

Board of Firemasters Will Open Bids at Special Meeting Tuesday Afternoon

Five makers of automobile fire apparatus have submitted bids on the engine to be purchased for the new fire station in the Tenth ward, and the board of firemasters will open the bids Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at a special meeting called for that purpose.

The bids are from the following concerns: American LaFrance Fire Engine company, through its Atlanta office; Nott Fire Engine company, Minneapolis; Ahrens-Fox Fire Engine company, Cincinnati; Webb company, through its Atlanta office; Robinson Fire Apparatus Manufacturing company, St. Louis.

The bids are sealed and on file in the comptroller's office, and will not be opened until the board of firemasters are ready to consider them.

The Tenth ward station has been without an apparatus since its completion several months ago because Mayor Woodward opposed the acceptance of an apparatus bought on the "moving platform" plan last fall.

He insisted that the board of firemasters should start all over again by asking for new bids, and then award a new contract to the cheapest and best bidder, and this is what the board is now doing.

KING'S BRIDGE TAVERN WILL BE TORN DOWN

NEW YORK, May 5.—King's Bridge tavern, a landmark of 100 years' standing and a resort where Edgar Allen Poe used to wait for his manuscript to come back from unappreciative editors, is about to give way to the march of progress. It is on the site of what will be the new American league baseball park next summer at Two Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and Broadway, and today a gang of laborers took possession of the old tavern as a shelter for themselves and their shovels, while the last guest walked out. Efforts of Poe's admirers to preserve the old tavern for its historical interest failed.

As Mrs. Mooring didn't have a copy of the court order allowing her the children, the police couldn't help her.

"You've left out something," would be W. F. Parkhurst's comment here. He owns the cafe and will be blamed for what happens.

NEGRO MOONSHINERS IN GUN FIGHT WITH COPS

Dozens of pisto lshots were exchanged by county policemen and negro "moonshiners" in an exciting battle near Ben Hill about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The officers, five in number, escaped without injury, and two of the negroes, one of whom was slightly wounded, were captured.

The officers participating in the fight were Lieutenants Lockhart and Oliver and Officers Haynie, Peacock and Jackson, all of the county force. John Lowe, who received a bullet in the hand, and Clem Wilson, were the negroes captured. They refuse to disclose the identity of their three companions who escaped.

The fight occurred near the negroes' still in a canebrake which was so thick that at 4 in the afternoon the officers could not see more than 10 paces ahead of them. In the midst of the exciting exchange of shots the negroes fled, and it was then that two of the men were captured. The officers confiscated the still. They will turn their prisoners over to the federal officials.

WILSON HOPES CONGRESS WILL REFORM CURRENCY

President Wants Bill Passed by Present Extra Session of Congress

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson again today expressed the hope that members of congress had come to an early agreement on the details of currency legislation so that a bill could be passed before adjournment of the special session.

The president told his callers he expected the currency committees of the house and senate to get together to formulate a measure, and his own views would be transmitted through whatever measures were finally agreed upon by them.

The president hopes that if congress takes up the currency question at the extra session it will do so with expedition and get through a bill not later than August. He is planning to visit the Panama canal either in July or August.

Senators Owen and Gore and the entire Oklahoma delegation urged the president to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary on April 9, 1914, of the opening of Oklahoma territory to settlement. The president said he would try.

President Wilson does not expect the tariff bill to be materially amended in the senate. He told callers he did not credit the report that wool would be taken from the free list. He heard views of many who wish duty retained on wool, but sees no reason to change his position.

Senator Sheppard and a delegation from Texas presented a petition asking the pardon of W. B. Walker, of Dallas, Tex., convicted of a violation of the national banking act.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, urged the appointment of N. J. Lillard, of Florida, as his first choice, and W. V. Tenley, of Chattanooga, Tenn., his second choice, for public printer.

Lawrence W. Woods and his brother, Edward A. Woods, of Pittsburg, both intimate friends of President Wilson, told him the provisions of the income tax bill relating to insurance companies did not altogether exempt insurance companies from double taxation. The president indicated that he would further study the question.

The Phi Deltas will be represented by G. Fred Kelly, of Lawrenceville, and Ernest Campbell, of Lavonia; the Ciceronians by Norman W. Cox, of Macon, and James Gordon, of Alexander City, Ala. The debate promises to be one of the best of the year and general interest is manifested by the students.

WHITE BURGLAR TRIES TWICE TO ROB HOUSE

The identity of the well dressed white man who made two attempts to enter the home of James S. Drake, superintendent of the Exposition Cotton mills at 22 Howard street, Sunday night, might have been known Monday had not Mrs. Drake dissuaded her husband from firing at the intruder upon his second visit to the house at midnight.

Shortly after dusk Mrs. Duke, who was alone at the time, saw a man attempting to enter through a window, and frightened him off. When Mr. Drake returnes a little later she told him of it. At about 12 o'clock a noise was heard and Mr. Drake discovered what appeared to be the same man trying to enter the house. He was ready to shoot when Mrs. Drake stopped him.

ROCKEFELLER SCORED IN SENATOR WORK'S SPEECH

Senate Hears Warm Address Against Approval of $100,000,000 Foundation

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Efforts in congress to incorporate the $100,000,000 Rockefeller foundation were scored today by Senator Works, who declared them a "proposal to 'farm out' to John D. Rockefeller and his associates the right and power to educate the people of the country with money accumulated by criminal means." Senator Works' statement was made in connection with a speech he delivered in the senate today on trusts and combinations, the essence of which he claimed to be the high protective tariff policy.

"The extent to which this may be practically unlimited. The corporations and institutions of learning which may be established throughout the country in the hands of people who will be subservient to the interests and views of Mr. Rockefeller and his associates are without number or limitation," said the senator.

"We do not want our children to be taught the ways nor the methods of John D. Rockefeller or his kind, nor to be generous with ill-gotten gains, nor to touch, handle, or profit by gold that should blister the fingers of the man who has accumulated it by extortion, oppression and crime, and is now attempting to rid himself of it by giving it away, nor to become the receivers of stolen goods in the name and under the guise of charity."

The continued existence of trusts and monopolies, the senator said, was due to the inadequacy of the Sherman anti-trust law, which he declared should be so amended that specific restraints or trade shall be unlawful with suitable punishment for those who violate the law. While he was not in favor of a high protective tariff which fostered capitalistic combination, he said he he would be in favor of an effort to protect the wage earner in his earnings and that he believed it would be "an excellent thing to harmonize the tariff and wages."

CHURCH AND HOME BURN AT WOODSTOCK

Exploding Lamp Is Believed to Have Caused the Fire

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WOODSTOCK, Ga., May 5.—Fire that is thought to have originated from an exploding lamp on the second floor destroyed the two story, eight room residence of J. H. Johnston and the adjoining Baptist church here Sunday night shortly after 8 o'clock.

The loss on the home will approximate $5,000, $3,500 of which was on the home of Mr. Johnston and $1,500 on the church. The residence was insured for about two-thirds its value but no policies covered the church.

When the flames were first discovered all of the Johnston family were at church save Mrs. Johnston and a child. They gave the alarm. The flames spread rapidly to the roof and in a short while had practically consumed it. Both structures burned to the ground.

MORGAN STREET in EAST LAKE is now being laid with macadam and tarred binding, to meet Candler street.

PONCE DE LEON AVENUE is now passable for vehicles from the GEORGIAN TERRACE to the beautiful Court House Square at Decatur, and this beautiful Avenue will soon be an exact counterpart of EAST LAKE DRIVE. When all this work is completed during the next three or four months, DECATUR will be at the CENTER of the best system of DRIVEWAYS out of Atlanta.

TILE WALKS are now being laid on KINGS HIGHWAY and CHURCH STREET; thus completing modern sidewalks for these streets to the corporate limit of DECATUR.

The NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING, the second in three years, is now being constructed in DECATUR.

Many NEW homes are being erected at East Lake, Oakhurst, Kirkwood, and in other parts of the "DECATUR SECTION" as well as in DECATUR, itself.

The STONE MOUNTAIN ELECTRIC LINE extending from Decatur through INGLESIDE, SCOTTDALE, and CLARKSTON, to STONE MOUNTAIN is opening up a beautiful NEW country, a most important addition to the "DECATUR SECTION."

DEKALB AVENUE from Mayson's Crossing to Kirkwood, is now being laid with vitrified brick, making another MODERN driveway through KIRKWOOD and OAKHURST to DECATUR.

What is BOUND TO HAPPEN with ALL THESE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS GOING ON IN the "DECATUR SECTION?"

Ride through this section and see for yourself. Send for Booklet.

FAVORABLE CROP REPORTS CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed Unchanged to 5 Pts. Lower Than Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORK, May 5.—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points on the Liverpool cables, reports of good rains in the southwest and favorable private crop estimates. There was a good deal of profit taking by recent sellers, however, and the market rallied 2 to 3 points during the early trading. In the absence of any aggressive support, the market remained more or less unsettled.

Reports that some of the Fall river mills would close down indefinitely beginning with next Monday started rather a more aggressive selling movement during the middle of the morning. Prices broke to a net loss of from eight to ten points in consequence, but the decline attracted considerable profit-taking by recent sellers and the market was quiet later with prices at a middling point to six to seven points net lower.

The market rallied to within two or three points on Saturday's close at noon on covering of shorts and a firmer turn to New Orleans, but general business remained very quiet and prices later eased off again to a net loss of six or seven points.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points on poor rains and favorable weather and crop reports from the belt. Prices rallied later on moderate selling. There was little demand from any source in the early trading. Rains in Texas were regarded as highly favorable and no great fault was found with temperatures over the cotton region. Near the end of the first half hour of business prices were 4 to 6 points under Saturday's close.

At a level 6 to 7 points down, buying orders increased, scalpers taking the long side for a turn on the further development of the Balkan situation, as reflected in private cable messages and in the quotations of the various national securities. Several sections of the belt also sent in word that much replanting was being done by reason of injury by cold nights. Bears did not increase their offerings as the market reacted from the decline of the first hour, and prices were up a point down to 5 points up, compared with Saturday's final figure, the latter position showing the most strength.

SHORTS HEAVY BUYERS OF STOCKS ON FOREIGN NEWS

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Canadian Pacific, Copper and Erie Were Strong

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Leading stocks rose buoyantly at the opening today. There was a keen demand and large blocks of the favorite issues changed hands at rising prices. Gains of 1 to 2 points were made by Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Steel, Amalgamated Copper and Can.

Covering extended with some violence and the market gave an impressive exhibition of strength. Bulls took full advantage of the favorable sentiment prevailing and bought more freely than at any time since Leonard pool slackened after the advance and reached 1 to 3 points, trading becoming quiet.

Possibility of the foreign markets on Balkan developments was reflected here in an increased demand for stocks. Foreigners sacrificed in to this market at the outset an das they came into competition with bidding by the whole room traders, advanced vigorously.

While the demand seemed to come largely from the short interest, commission house following account were more extensive. Bull traders were inclined to be deliberate in their purchases, however, and refrained from aggressive buying when it was plain that the most urgent demand for stocks had been satisfied.

Possibility of important decision by the supreme court tended to slow down dealings and the market grew dull on moderate recessions.

Bonds were steady.

While the general market was easier after midday, the Harriman stocks were under particular pressure. Union Pacific yielded 2 points to an extension to July 1 of the time for the distribution of Southern Pacific stock, the fall of falling nearly 2 points to below Saturday's close.

Some many orders were executed in the late session. Prices held on better, the general list covering materially in more independently of the Harriman group.

Stability of prices in the absence of any aggressive buying indicated the short interest and bidding for stocks was more general in the final dealings. Reading, Amalgamated and Canadian Pacific responded sharply and there were also advances elsewhere to the highest of the day.

The Old-fashioned Morgan Standard
BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Stories about the late J. P. Morgan and his business methods and standards agree that he was a survivor from a day when square dealing between man and man in business was expected. Personally, he had power enough to enforce his views on the men with whom he dealt.

There was the case of a big banker and the head of an old stock brokerage house during the panic days of 1907.

To Mr. Morgan came the broker one day to say that the banker was about to call a loan on his firm, and if he did the firm would fail. The firm owned the bank—a million dollars, and as security for the loan the bank held certain stocks and bonds. If these securities were thrown on the market that day they would not bring a million dollars, but if they were carried to normal times they would be worth a great deal more than a million dollars.

Mr. Morgan looked over the list of securities and said that he would advance the broker a million on them. Then he asked a messenger to call the banker to his office. When that shrewd money man came Morgan said:

"I called you over to tell you exactly what I think of you, but I find that I haven't time. You've been pounding this market ever since trouble began, trying to whip it down, and it while everybody else has been trying to help. You go back to your office and stop calling loans. If you call another one I'll break you and drive you out of business!"

There is more than an impression abroad—and you don't have to get away from Wall street to have it come to your notice—that the Morgan standards are not those of our bankers and brokers generally. Go into the street now, among a dozen traders and bankers, and suggest that they carry a loan for you when the market price of your security begins to approach the amount of the loan, and see what they will say to you.

That business you have the power to put them out of business.

THE WEATHER

Forecast till 8 p. m. Tuesday:

Atlanta and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

Georgia: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

Alabama: Cloudy, probably showers in western portion tonight or Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The western disturbance now extends as a trough of low atmospheric pressure from southwestern Texas northeastward to the upper lakes. High winds have been prevalent during the past 24 hours in the region just west of the Mississippi river. Green Bay, Wis., reported 1.16 inches. The area of cloudy weather accompanying the low pressure over the eastern states and conditions are becoming slightly more favorable for local rains.

In the upper Rocky mountain region the atmospheric pressure is high and the weather has generally cleared. It is cool in the northern portion of the Rocky mountain and plateau regions, with temperatures below freezing at Williston and Havre.

No rains fell in the eastern half of the cotton belt during the past twenty-four hours, yet generous, not excessive, rains fell in Texas.

Conditions are not yet entirely favorable for rain at Atlanta and another fair day is predicted.

Section Director.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Hutton & Co.: On any further break would buy new crops.

Sternberger, Sinn & Co.: We cannot see any reason for a particular upward movement although the crop interest is still very large, which should help stimulate prices.

Miller & Co.: We advise sale of new crop months.

Logan & Bryan: We feel sales should be made on sharp bulges only.

Hayden, Stone & Co.: On hard spots cotton seems to come out freely.

FINANGIAL BUREAU ON STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 5.—Financial bureau says: Information channels based on foreign news are more cheerful. Irregular tendencies may be seen today. Sentiment in important quarters shows some improvement and investment absorption is expected to increase. We would buy standard stocks on good opportunities, taking moderate profits as they appear.

IMPROVED BALKAN NEWS HAD DEPRESSING EFFECT

Wheat Closed 3-8 to 5-8 Cent Down—Corn and Oats Steady, Provisions Are Up

CHICAGO, May 5.—Heavy rains said to be worth several millions of dollars to farmers of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, today weakened wheat here. Opened at a range of a shade higher to ⅛c lower, July began a shade to ⅛c lower at 90¾@90¾c to 91c and eased off to 90⅝@90⅝c.

Improved Balkan conditions lowered wheat, but there was some recovery on large decrease in the visible domestic supply. Closed steady with July at 91⅜@90⅜c, a net loss of ⅝.

Lightness of demand sent corn down at the start. July opened ¼c lower at 55¾c and clipped to 55½c.

Better corn inquiry later caused reaction to opening figures, but it did not hold. Closed easy with July at 55¾c, a net decline of ⅛.

Rains weakened oats, July started a shade off at 34½c and went ¼c lower.

Provisions irregular, opening figures being 2½@5c lower to 10c higher. Trade was light and scattered. July first prices were: Pork, $19.42½; lard, $10.57½@10.60; ribs, $10.37½.

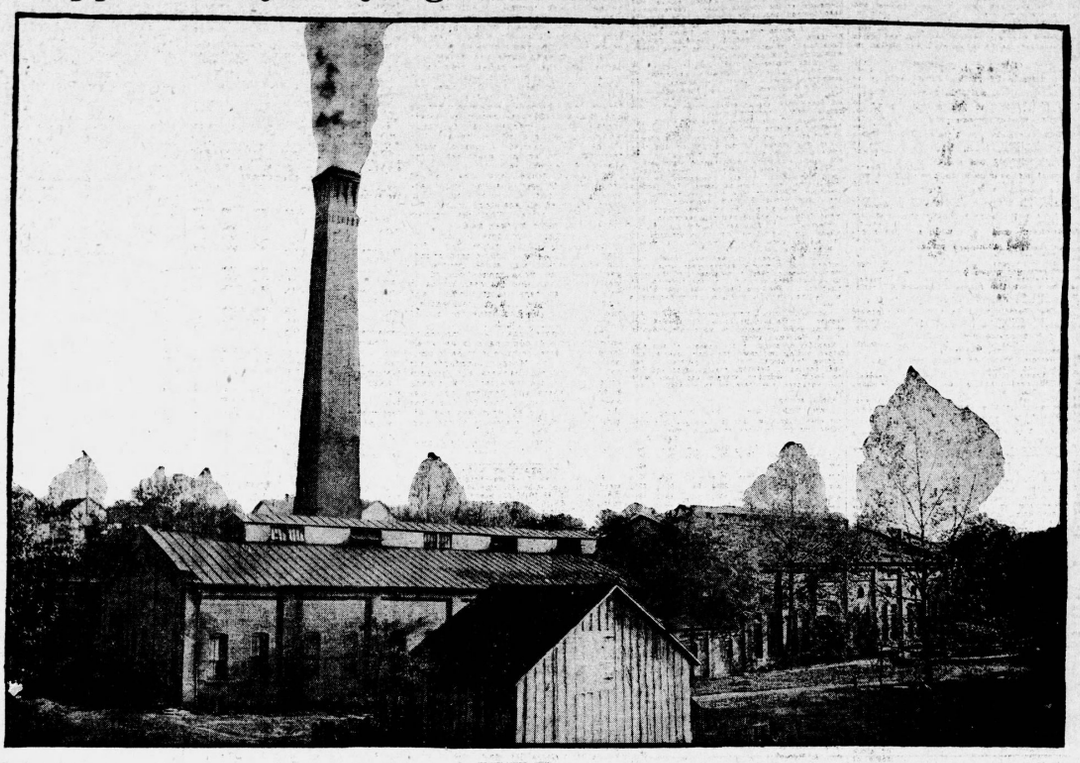
City of Atlanta is the Latest Enterprise to Give Central Station Electric Current Complete Approval by Buying It for the New 10,000,000 Gallon Pump



THE RIVER PUMPING STATION

This plant is the home of the new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump for which the City of Atlanta has contracted with the Georgia Railway and Power Company to supply it with electric power, after carefully considering all other methods.

If any further proof were needed to demonstrate the economy and reliability of CENTRAL STATION ELECTRIC CURRENT, after the owners and managers of half a dozen of Atlanta's big new enterprises had contracted for it upon careful investigation of ALL methods of supplying power, then that proof is clearly furnished in the action of the CITY OF ATLANTA last week in rejecting ALL OTHER POWER PROPOSITIONS and accepting CENTRAL STATION ELECTRIC CURRENT of this company for the city's new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump at the River Pumping Station.

Every possible effort was made by representatives of other power methods to induce the city to accept their propositions, including that of the Municipal Ownership advocates who wanted the city to buy machinery and make its own electricity. Along with these proposals this company submitted its STANDARD RATES AND ITS REPUTATION FOR RELIABLE SERVICE.

First, the Water Board, composed of practical business men whose sole purpose is to secure the best service at the lowest cost for the city, considered all propositions and ACCEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

Then the CITY COUNCIL, also composed of business men actuated by the single motive of buying the best service at the lowest rates, rejected all other proposals and ACCEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

Then the ALDERMANIC BOARD AND THE MAYOR, all looking solely for the city's best interests, followed the action of the water board and council, rejected all other methods for supplying power for the city's new pump and ACCEPTED THIS COMPANY'S.

It was literally the acid test of the economy and reliability of the Central Station service furnished by the Georgia Railway and Power Company, and the service and rates stood the test.

The most efficient, the most reliable, the most economical method of obtaining power and light for factory or building is to contract with this Company for such service.

Ask for estimates.

CITY EFFECTS BIG SAVING ON PUMP

Centrifugal Pattern Is Bought for $7,000, as Against $60,000 for Old Type

Mayor Woodward's signing of the contract with the Georgia Railway and Power Company for electric current to operate a new 10,000,000-gallon capacity water pump at the river station probably marks a new epoch in the history of Atlanta's waterworks department, according to W. Z. Smith, general manager. A steam pump of the type in use by the city would have cost more than $60,000, but the contract for the centrifugal pump to be operated by electricity, provides for an expenditure of only a little more than $7,000.

The objection of officials of the water department heretofore to electrically-driven centrifugal pumps has been the cost of operation. The centrifugal pumps are cheaper and convenient to house and maintain, but until the bid of the electric company, based on the new water power rates, was submitted, the officials did not believe the new plan would be economic. The rate is 5 1-2 mills per kilowatt hour.

Work on the new pump will be rushed, General Manager Smith said the crippled condition of two of the pumps at the river station demanded that the new one be established as quickly as possible.—From The Atlanta Georgian, April 30.

AMERICAN FASHIONS

By Lillian Young.

Throughout the winter the short wraps became very popular; in fact, so much so that the full length wraps were practically abandoned, leaving us with modified evening wraps to wear in the spring and summer. In these may be found some charming designs developed in rich brocade or matelasse to wear over the evening gown, and others made of ratine, dark satin, or dark matelasse, suitable for wear over the thin frock at the summer resort or with the afternoon gown.

These short wraps are also being worn on the street, but the coloring is subdued and the material practical. Here in the sketch is represented a most attractive model of gray cheviot serge with a fine stripe of darker gray. It is cut large and roomy across the shoulders, and has wide sleeves set into dropped armholes under a corded seam.

The fronts cross diagonally and then slope down the sides, rounding off in back. The draping of the lower part of the coat is laid in two folds and caught under the dagonal slash of the fastening. The neck is finished with a broad turned down collar of white ratine and rows of white enamel ball buttons are arranged at the line of closing and up the outside of the sleeves.

In cutting the coat the material is laid so that the stripes of the body portion run up and down. The slieeves have the stripes running lengthwise, but the deep set on cuffs are arranged with the stripes running around them.

A navy or any dark shade of ratine the same design can be attractively developed for a traveling or motor coat, while in brocaded or plain satin it will make a lovely evening wrap.

This is regarded as a distinct honor, and Mr. Pfefferkorn's many friends throughout the south are congratulating him upon the recognition which is accorded him.

GOSSIP OF ROYALTY

(By Julius Gabe.)

BERLIN, May 5.—Their majesties and the princess are thoroughly enjoying their sojourn at Hamburg. The weather is fine and almost daily the kaiser and kaiserin, with their daughter, go for a ride in the woods and charming surrounding country. One afternoon they all motored to a distant point in the Taunus Hills and tea was taken al fresco, a "kitchen" automobile having gone on before, so that when their majesties arrived all was in readiness. It was as quiet as if it had been the intimate private gardens, and Victoria Luise made the tea for her parents, and there was plenty of merriment. The kaiser is getting fits of melancholy at the idea of losing his precious girl, and has to be cheered up by her telling him that Rathenow is very near to Berlin, and an auto covers swiftly. The princess is always full of fun, and never lets her beloved parents get into low spirits if she can help it.

The kaiser did not lose any time in going to inspect the Saalburg, the restored Roman fortress just outside Hamburg. His majesty has spent a good deal of his own private money upon the restoration, and it is one of his pet hobbies. Her majesty and the princess accompanied him, the fortress and the museum were inspected narrowly, and afterwards a walk was taken through the pretty Kopperner Valley, whereupon the imperial trio rejoined their waiting auto.

The greatest pleasure is everywhere expressed that King George and Queen Mary intend to be present at the wedding of Princess Victoria Luise. This is decidedly more to the taste of the Berliners than a stiff official visit; it is regarded as a special token of the intimate family relations between the reigning houses of Great Britain and Germany, and as such in these troublous times is very welcome.

The bridal veil of the kaiserin's only daughter is to resemble very much that worn by her mother. It is not an heirloom, but is being specially made at an atelier in Hirschberg, Silesia, having been designed by Frau Charles de Beaulieu. The pattern is exquisite; it consists of rosebuds and trailing foliage, applied to the fine net in threads. The princess particularly desires to wear a veil of this design, and specially worked for her, the idea of an old lace heirloom being distasteful to her.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

"Big oaks from little acorns grow."
That's just as true as true can be;
A little word, a little deed
May change the life of you or me.

It was a very little thing that got Unc' Billy Possum into a lot of trouble. Yes, sir, it was a very little thing. It was nothing but a sneeze, a very little sneeze, just such a sneeze as Unc' Billy had sneezed a great many times. It seemed like a perfectly harmless little sneeze. It was harmless in itself. It was like a great many other things, perfectly right and proper in the right place, but full of trouble out of place.

You see Unc' Billy Possum was in the haymow of Farmer Brown's big barn. He hadn't any business there. Of course, Unc' Billy should have gone straight back to the Green Forest as soon as he found this out and there waited for daylight so as to go up to the old orchard and tell Johnny Chuck the good news. But Unc' Billy didn't. No, sir, Unc' Billy didn't. He just had to prowl around that big barn and stick his sharp little nose into a lot of things which really were not in the least his business. You see Unc' Billy had quite as much curiosity as Peter Rabbit ever dreamed of having.

Prowling around up in the haymow Unc' Billy found something that made him grin from ear to ear. What was it? Why, it was a hen's nest, and in it were five eggs! Yes, sir, Unc' Billy counted five eggs. Now, of course, Unc' Billy had no business to touch those eggs, but then, as Unc' Billy said to himself, Mrs. Speckles had no business to have hidden them up there instead of laying them in the nice nest that Farmer Brown's boy had prepared for her in the henhouse. So Unc' Billy just helped himself to those eggs. Yes, sir, he ate all five of those eggs, and he chuckled all the time he was eating them. Then what do you think Unc' Billy did? Why, he curled himself up in that nest and took a nap. You see that nest was hidden away in a dark corner of the haymow and the hay was warm and soft and oh, so comfortable! Unc' Billy was asleep in two winks and dreaming the most beautiful dreams.

A great noise woke Unc' Billy. There was shouting and stamping and rattling. For a minute he couldn't think where he was. Then he remembered. He had slept longer than he had meant to and here it was broad daylight and Farmer Brown's boy was giving the horses their breakfast.

"Ah reckon it wouldn't be safe fo' me to go home now, because somebody would sholy see me," said Unc' Billy. "But nobody's gwine to find me up here." He stretched himself, yawned noiselessly, then curled himself up once more for another nap.

He was almost asleep when he heard something that made his eyes fly wide open. Could it be? Yes, it was! Farmer Brown's boy was climbing up to the haymow! Unc' Billy held his breath. What was Farmer Brown's boy coming up there for? In a minute he knew. It was just to get hay for the horses. Unc' Billy smiled with relief. Suddenly Unc' Billy clapped both hands to his nose. In pitching down the hay Farmer Brown's boy had raised a great dust. It had gone up Unc' Billy's nose. "Kerchoo!" went Unc' Billy before he could stop it. Farmer Brown's boy suddenly stopped work and stood perfectly still. He was listening.

The tickling in Unc' Billy's nose grew worse. He held his nose with both hands. He tried to hold his breath. It was of no use. "Kerchoo!" went Unc' Billy once more.

"Ha!" cried Farmer Brown's boy, and started straight for the corner where Unc' Billy was hiding.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

CARA had to ply her brush swiftly, for she had promised Mrs. Haight to have the picture next day, and there was still much to be done.

Never had times been so hard as they were now with Cara. Her husband was in ill health and his practice fell off persistently. Every one was running to the new doctor now. As for her own poor little business of needle and brush work, there was small demand for it in a town where quantity counted above any amount of quality.

At forty Cara Ash was still beautiful. She had grown stout and brilliantly colored in her maturity, and though she had had cares and sorrows beyond those of most women there were no lines in her face.

The postman's whistle made her glance up. A moment later the door between the doctor's office and her own sitting room opened and her husband entered. He was a large man with an unhealthy pallor and a genial brightness of smile that was little less than inspiring.

"Too dark for you to work now, dear," he announced, cheerily. "Here's a letter for you."

He dropped the letter into her lap, and she read aloud:

"My Dear Old Friend—I arrived in New York this morning after a long absence abroad. I should like to pay you a brief visit before going to my home in the west. If it will be convenient I could go out to your place for the week-end."—

Cara paused, her voice trembling with excitement. Turning the page quickly she read the name at the foot of the letter—"Margaret Minor Sage."

"Margaret Minor!" she looked up at her husband. "Calvin, you remember Margaret. She was my bridesmaid, and before that my chum. I never saw her after she married Duncan Page and went west to live. They say he made a fortune. I haven't had a line from her in twenty years, and now she wants to visit us."

"Well, let her." The doctor's voice was hardly jovial. "We need some company to chirk us up, and I don't known any one I'd rather see than Margaret. Tell her to come. Send her a telegram."

Cara's eyes were passing swiftly from object to object in the shabby room, and she shivered at the thought of uncomprehendingly critical eyes looking upon their poverty.

The office bell rang and the doctor went to receive a patient. Cara was alone. "I can't have her," Cara whispered to herself. "If she made one sign that she thought what she would certainly think, I should—I should—"

Her hand clinched fiercely at her side. To Cara her husband's lack of success was only his inability to gather where he had sown; she knew how noble his nature was, and she could smile in the face of the whole careless world for his sake, but to smile in the face of the friend who saw because of the very acuteness of that friendship she felt incapable of doing, "I should show her the door," she breathed.

Against her clinched hand a rough head was thrust. She started. The old dog which had entered but did not leave the room with his master crept close to her side. His sympathetic presence comforted her.

"Ben, old boy," she said, "you know I needed you, didn't you? Ben, that was a hard thing I just said. But you see how it is. I can't have her. I'm afraid of what she would think. Of course, she wouldn't say a word. But that isn't the consideration." She patted the old dog's head. "I shan't telegraph her to come. But I'll write to her so that when the letter reaches her it will be too late. I'm not given to lying, but even the Bible says the truth is not to be spoken at all times. Yet if I were sure she was the same Margaret I wouldn't be afraid of her. It's the new Margaret I fear--the one who lives in a big house and wears fine clothes and has been abroad. And because I'm afraid I shan't let her come."

She was putting supper upon the table when she heard her husband enter. "Supper ready, dear?" he asked. "I smell something good. I guess I'm a little late. I've been over to Boyd's taking a look at the baby."

"Did he pay you?" The words leaped out before Cara could stay them.

"No, dear." The doctor sat down comfortably in his place at the table. "No, he didn't pay me, but he promised. However, that doesn't signify. I've saved the baby for him and it's a fine baby. Made me think of"—he whipped out his handkerchief and dashed it across his eyes. "Pass the sugar, please," he ordered gruffly.

Cara lifted her eyes to the big crayon portrait beyond her husband—of a handsome three-year-old boy. He would have been twenty had he lived this long. Twenty! She dared not think what a twenty-year-old son would have meant to her and the doctor.

"By the way," the doctor's voice had resumed its normal tone, "I stepped in as I was going past the office and sent that telegram for you."

"Telegram!" Cara gasped. "Oh, Calvin, what made you?" she asked.

He stared at her ablaze. "Don't you want me to? I thought you'd be pleased."

Cara's laugh sprang out, but it was a bitter laugh. She got herself under control quickly. "It's all right, dear," she said. "I was going to write, that's all. But, of course, a telegram is quicker and surer."

Cara slept little that night. She lay planning, wondering, worrying. "She'll have to take things as she finds them and think what she will," she thought wearily.

When at last the day and hour of Margaret's arrival came the doctor went cheerily to the station to meet her, leaving Cara to attend to the noonday meal. But instead of hanging over the kitchen stove, she sank into a chair and covered her face with her hands. The old bulldog crept up and tucked his head under her arm and she began to talk to him.

"Yes, Ben, she's coming," she said. "She's almost here. And I dread her as I've never dreaded anything human. I'm tired with struggle and worry, and there's worse to come. She'll never realize what has gone to making us what we are—how the boy died and the doctor has worked for love of mankind instead of love of money; how you, poor old Ben, represent all the pay he got for the hardest case he ever worked over, though when old Bob Armstrong gave you he gave all he had to give besides his eternal gratitude."

Yet when at last the doctor brought Margaret in Cara was bright faced and smiling, in trim to welcome her guest.

"Cara!" Margaret Sage said.

Their hands met, then their faces, then there passed between them a long, inquiring look. Cara was thinking strangely. "She's changed. She's not the Margaret I knew."

The doctor, as usual, relieved the situation. "Something boiling over on the stove," he commented.

"The bouillon!" All Cara's housewifely instinct was instantly alive. "Calvin, help Margaret off with her things while I set the kettle back."

After all, the dinner was as perfect as skill and judgment can make indifferent food. Margaret ate heartily. Afterward she went upstairs for a rest. It was late when she came down.

"I slept," she apologized. But she looked as if she had also wept.

Cara had even a more difficult time with her guest than she had expected. She was glad when the time of parting came, and she felt that Margaret was just as glad.

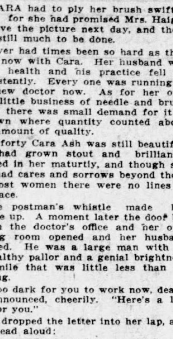
"We have done each other no good," Cara thought sadly. "We have lost each other on the way. But Calvin had a very good time. God bless him. That's some compensation for what I've been through."

But other and richer compensation came with Margaret's letter two days later. Calvin brought it in and waited to hear what the guest had to say. Cara read it through, then looked up at her husband with swimming eyes.

"I couldn't read it to you; I should have broken down over it," she said. "You must read it for yourself. Oh, Calvin, I didn't know that Margaret could write so beautifully. She says that her visit was a revelation; that she never knew old married folks could be so happy, and she thought it was too late ever to try to be, but she's going home to begin over again and make her married life like ours. She says we've found the best kind of success—success in love. And that she's the failure."

She paused with a sob. Calvin was stroking her shoulder and trying to understand.

The old dog crept close, and they stood there in loving union of heart and mind—the three failures.



"He Would Have Been Twenty Had He Lived."

Fashion's fickle whims have no limitations.

Yesterday a fiction caught from the vagaries of the clouds; today, the carnage of a battlefield inspires a style.

The color spectrum is inefficient in its yield of hues; more than it can supply must be imagined, invented or borrowed

The vortex of Fashion takes its toll from shadow as well as substance. Ideas evolve from the leaf of a rose, or from a dragon's fang; from the wraithe of a waterfall, or from the mists of the dawn. There's poetry, as well as practicability, in Women's Wearables; and the SOUTHERN SUIT & SKIRT CO., with its sumptuous versions of the prevailing modes, is an inspiration for any woman in search of sparkling newness in effects, and individuality in style.

The store tomorrow will have a gala appearance in its profusion of new things the express has brought fresh from New York. Nemo Week Will Help You to Win Style and Health!

Practically every important store in the United States, in Canada, and in other countries, joins this year in the celebration of Nemo Week.

This annual fashion event brings together all the Nemo inventions and improvements of the past year.

It emphasizes more clearly than ever the important fact that—

Nemo Corsets are in a Class Alone, and Must be Considered Separately and Apart from All Other Makes

Millions of women now refuse to wear any corset but the Nemo. Millions more will do so when they learn that all Nemo Corsets have—

Exclusive Style and Health Features of Inestimable Value to Every Woman, Which Cannot be Obtained in Any Other Corsets, at Any Price, nor Under Any Other Trademark, in Any Store in the World

These are some of the Nemo inventions that have made "Nemo" a household word in every country where corsets are worn:

1. The ingenious Nemo construction that "bridges the diaphragm," gives plenty of breathing space and freedom from constriction over the stomach section, no matter how tightly the corset may be laced. No woman wearing a Nemo ever feels that crushing, smothering pain that makes her rush home to get her corset off.

2. Gores and bands of semi-elastic Nemo Lastikops Webbing and Lastikops Cloth, that shape the corset closely to your form, and give you, with perfect comfort, the slender-hip effect of the so-called "corsetless dress."

3. The new Nemo "Lasticurve-Back," which makes even the longest corset comfortable in any position, produces fashionable slender lines, prevents that ugly "corset-line," and holds the corset down where it belongs.

4. The famous "Lastikops Bandlet," made of Lastikops Webbing, which insures perfect and comfortable hygienic abdominal support, and has done more than medicine to preserve and restore the health of millions of women.

5. The Nemo Auto-Massage device and the Nemo "Limshaping Extensions," which permanently reduce the surplus flesh of abdomen and upper limbs.

Mobile Gets Edge in Series For the League Leadership

League Stars First Season In Baseball

Georgia-Alabama Organization Ready for Opening—All Business Houses to Close in the League Cities

With the opening of the season in the Georgia-Alabama league Monday, there are no less than four organizations playing ball this year in which teams of the teams are drawn from Georgia cities—the Southern, the South Atlantic, the Empire State and the G. A.

In the Empire the teams are all Georgia teams; in the Georgia-Alabama four are from Alabama, two from this state. The clubs in the new league are Anniston, Gadsden, Opelika, Talladega, LaGrange and Newnan.

The new G. A. league, composed of the remnants of the Southeastern league and some new teams, has a far brighter season before it than had its predecessor. The enthusiasm in every town is great; each club has a large reserve fund, a large enough forfeit has been posted by each club to enable the league to take hold of any franchise and run the defaulting club through until the end of the season.

The opening games are expected to be attended by record-breaking crowds. Judging by practice affairs so far, the teams in the league are mighty evenly matched. The players are mostly youngsters, and should put up a classy article of ball.

Here are today's games: Anniston at Gadsden, Opelika at Talladega, LaGrange at Newnan.

GEORGIA IN BIG BATTLE

ATHENS, May 5.—Washington and Lee is here for two games today and tomorrow, and then Tech. The Virginia boys come down here claiming the undisputed championship of their section this year, and should furnish some real amusement on Sanford field after the series of jokes which other teams have been perpetrating on the Athens fans.

The Virginians are minus their great southpaw, Moran, this year, but they are reported to have a great pitching staff nevertheless. If this be the case the batting averages of the Georgia team will fall off some.

After the Red and Black finishes with Washington and Lee Tuesday there will be only two days' rest before Georgia's ancient and honored rival, Tech, comes to Sanford bottoms for a series of two games on the 9th and 10th. Tech comes over to Athens this year with all the edge seemingly against her, but the Georgians have learned to watch for the ace up Heisman's sleeve, and expect the unexpected in this series.

Another thing, the Georgia team has been going at a great clip; in fact they have been going at such a rate that it looks as if they were hitting too fast a pace. If this is the case, they may break and go dead at any time. However, this is a mere possibility, as Cunningham has managed to keep them keyed up to the same notch all season.

Hitchcock's good showing on Saturday may set him a try in one of the Tech games; however, it is not likely that he will pitch one of the first two. Corley and Hitchcock will probably face Washington and Lee, and Harris and Corley work the Tech games, in the order mentioned.

IS HOME RUN THE LONGER?

NEW YORK, May 5.—Can a golf player tee up a golf ball on the home plate of the polo grounds and drive it over the topmost centerfield fence into Eighth avenue, at the same time keeping it between the right and left field flag poles? This is a problem which has raised an argument between members of the New York National league and several golfers, and a question which will be settled some day this week after the Giants return tomorrow. The proposition really resolves itself into this:

Can a golfer best a home run hitter?

From the home plate to the centerfield fence is about 165 yards. The top of the fence which surmounts the bleachers in that territory is about fifty and sixty feet high. The flag poles are about 250 feet apart.

Golf players say the feat suggested should be easy. Ball players who cannot even drive a pitched ball into the lower part of the centerfield stand say it is impossible. Several fans who are also enthusiasts have taken up one side of the argument on the other side are John J. McGraw and several others.

An amateur golfer will attempt the long, high drive this week. He is to have five tries.

Every Seat Sold for "Frank Chance Day"

CHICAGO, May 5.—President Charles Comiskey, of the local American league club, has announced that every reserved seat in the park had been sold for the game between the New York Americans and the White Sox to be played here May 15, known as "Frank Chance day."

Manager Chance, of the New Yorks, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, has many admirers here and the demand for seats has been as great for this game as it had been for the world's championship series, Mr. Comiskey said.

There is a strong suspicion that the appointment of President Tip O'Neil as a colonel on the staff of the governor of Nebraska at Lincoln was meant as a bribe to induce O'Neil to move the league offices to the Nebraska capital.

Price to Work For Crackers

Desperate Effort Will Be Made to Take Second Game From Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., May 5.—Manager Smith, of the Atlanta team, announced this morning that in all probability Price would be on the mound for Atlanta in the second game with Mobile this afternoon, with Bausewine in reserve. Dunn will be behind the bat. The Mobile battery will be Campbell and Schmidt.

Outfielder Maloney, unconditionally released several days ago, left Sunday night to join the Fort Worth team in the Texas league. Jack Corbett, former Colton States player, has been sold to Asheville, N. C., and left this morning for that place.

Al Furchner, the former Sioux City pitcher, will be given a tryout within the next few days.

KERNAN NOW UTILITY MAN

Since the release of Williams to New Orleans club Jack Kernan has been again signed and is now acting in the role of utility player for the Atlanta club. He joined the team in Mobile on Sunday and it is possible that he will stick around all season as utility man. Kernan is a versatile ball player and a good man to have around. With Bailey out of the game he is now needed to fill any vacancy that might arise.

Oxford Cops

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

PORTERDALE, Ga., May 5.—Oxford defeated Porterdale Saturday afternoon in a fast game of ball by the score of 2 to 1, the game being played in one hour and twenty minutes. This is the second time this season they have defeated Porterdale, as they took the same team into camp last Saturday by a three to two score in one hour and five minutes.

The chief features of the game this afternoon were the batting of Harris for Oxford, who secured two singles, and one two-base hit in three times at bat. Worsham for Porterdale secured two singles in four times at bat. These were the only ones to land for more than one hit. Evans for Porterdale played a star fielding game, cutting off three balls that were labeled as hits when they left the bat.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Oxford .....100 001 00*—2 6 5
Porterdale .....000 000 010—1 6 3

Batteries—For Porterdale, Moore and Worsham; for Oxford, Battle and Harris.

Stovall Suspended

CHICAGO, May 5.—President Johnson, of the American league, last night announced the indefinite suspension of Manager George Stovall, of the St. Louis club, for his clash with Umpire Ferguson in St. Louis during Saturday's game with Cleveland.

BIG COLLEGE SERIES ARE BOOKED FOR THIS WEEK

Tech and Georgia Nines Tie Up in Athens on Friday and Saturday, With Last Two Games Here on the Following Friday and Saturday—Now Looks as if the Red and Black Boys Will Get Away With Big End of the Games

Down the sunny spring track of sportdom are emerging from the mists of victories and defeats, anticipations, hopes and realizations, four glowing days for baseball fans of Atlanta and Georgia, the series between the Georgia School of Technology and the State university at Athens.

Less than seven days separate us from the first battle of the series, less than two weeks separate us from the last game of the last series. The first is played at Athens next Saturday, May. May 9 and 10, the last is played in Atlanta, May 16 and 17.

The combined games will undoubtedly be the greatest that either town has had the opportunity of witnessing this season, and the most exciting that will be scratched on the map of S. I. A. A. ball this year of 1913.

Georgia has the edge. Georgia has the team, the pitchers and to tap an ear toward the dope that is percolating from the camp of Cunningham, Georgia has the games already packed down in salt and sassafras.

It is not exaggeration to say, judging from thedope, that Georgia should take four, or at least three of the games with the Jackets. The Red and Black has waxed triumphantly over each team it has bucked this year, capping weeks of victory by mercilessly trouncing the Commodores and trailing Vanderbeasaer in the muck by drowning them with a three-game sweep.

Already Georgia is hailed as the champion of the south. All that stands between them and the title are nine Yellowjackets, bent on slipping a cog in the smooth wheel of fortune which has been rolling the 1913 team of U. of G. to an unquestioned southern championship.

Georgia's great record is not causing dismay to the hearts of Tech players and students, but it is drilling into them every day the knowledge that the games will be the hardest that any Tech team ever had with Georgia, and that the honor of winning them, should the Jackets do so, will be the greatest honor that ever befell a Tech team.

Georgia, you come to think of it, the chances are not so overwhelmingly against Tech. Georgia has one more series this week, with Washington and Lee Monday and Tuesday. Tech has four uninterrupted days in which to get in shape.

Georgia has hit its stride, has already come to the top of its bent. May it not be possible for the team to fall off before the Tech seriesy

Tech, on the contrary, is just coming into its own. The action of Coach Heisman in keeping off some of his regulars for two weeks has put more steam and life into the Jackets than they have had this season. They are primed to play their best game of the season against Georgia, and they will.

Georgia has not a better fielding team than Tech; we doubt if it is as good. Georgia has a far better hitting team than Tech, we believe, but the chance the Jackets have better baseball sense, have been better trained and know the inside stuff better than do the Red and Black players.

Georgia pitchers have so far shown much better than have the Tech hurlers. There's the rub. Unless Eubanks, who will be Tech's main hope in the box, Pitts and possibly Fielder and Gamble to fall back on, can turn out a phenomenal order of hurling during the series, they will go to Georgia all the way.

GOLF GAME IS NOT OLD

NEW YORK, May 3.—"It is hard to realize that American golf had its conception barely twenty-one years ago," commented Alexander P. W. Kinnan, president of the Union Dime bank of New York, "but that's a fact in a few words. John Reid, of Yonkers, was responsible for it as the result of a trip to Scotland. 'Come out tomorrow,' he said to a few of us February 21, 1891, 'and we'll try a Scotch game I enjoyed on the other side.'

"Accepting the invitation were John B. Upham, a New York broker; Harry of Holbrook, now deceased, formerly of Holbrook brothers, and myself. The clubs used were several sets which Mr. Reid provided, and six impromptu holes were laid out on what is now North Broadway, Yonkers. Tomato cans served as cups, and Mr. Holbrook's sons, Fred and Warren, acted as caddies.

"Two years later the formation of the St. Andrew's, the parent American club, resulted—and what has come as a natural consequence you all know quite well. Courses everywhere indicate the national prominence of the game, and all because it's a game for young and old, strong and weak, and its joy is unending."

Finn Runner Wins

NEW YORK, May 5.—William Kolehmainen, the Finnish professional runner, easily outstripped eight other contestants in a 15-mile professional championship race at Celtic park, Long island, Sunday in the teeth of a strong wind and on a track that was only fairly good.

SPEAKER HAS HIS HIT SAFE IN ALL BUT TWO GAMES

Tris Speaker certainly has gotten off to a good start, even if the rest of the speed boys haven't. During the first week of the championship race the star outfielder of the Rex Sox hit at a .437 clip and fielded faultlessly, playing in the same smooth manner that marked his work in 1912, when the Chalmers jury of baseball sharps voted him the most valuable American league player—a vote that carried with it a gift of a touring car.

That batting average of .437 and fielding percentage of 1.000 hardly does Speaker justice. Mr. Smoke obtained the batting credit by getting fourteen hits in thirty-two times at bat, but besides obtaining fourteen safeties he worked the pitchers for twelve passes and reached first base on errors four times.

If at bats were calculated now as they were in the very early days of the national pastime, Speaker would have been charged with forty-five trips to the plate, and if the old time record of reached first base still was kept, the Texan's percentage would be .667. He got on the paths sixteen times on hits from April 16 to April 25, inclusive, twelve times on passes and four times on errors.

Until Walter Johnson fitted jackets for white on the Rex Sox, Speaker had scored in every game in which he had played and in only two contests had he failed to make a hit. Walter Johnson and Byron Houck were the men who stuck ciphers into Speaker's baseball column and they also were the only ones who fooled him during the first fortnight's play.

Speaker's base running average at the end of the second week of the campaign was .500. He had executed four successful steals and been thwarted the same number of times when he started out on thieving expeditions. The backstops who stopped the Bostonian were Ira Thomas and Jack Lapp, the former having cut Speaker down three times when he tried to pilfer.

Speaker had three assists from the outfield in his first ten games, figuring in two double plays.

These figures show just how valuable Speaker was to his team in the first two weeks of the season:

Actually at bat, 45 times.
Reaching first base, 30 times.
Sacrificed fled, one.
Runs batted in, 5.
Passes received, 12.
Times fanned, 2.
Runs scored, 9.
Hits made, 14.
Bases stolen, 4.
Thrown out trying to steal, 4.
Putouts, 21.
Assists, 3.
Errors, none.
Double plays started, 2.
Men thrown out, 3.

Americans to Reach Finals

NEW YORK, May 3.—The general opinion that the American tennis team will survive the preliminary matches and thereby be entitled to compete in the Davis cup match with England in July, has received creditable support from the enemy, so to speak.

Stanley N. Doust, one of the players of the Australian team which is now on the way, to this country to play the final matches in June, believes that the American players, on paper at least, figure to win the trial games against the team of which he is a member. Here is what he says:

"As regards the American match, on paper it looks as if the home team would win, but as one of the Australian team I have a sort of sneaking feeling that a surprise may be effected. I do not like to write the word 'boastfulness, but because I honestly believe we have a sporting chance. Our team includes Horace Rice, A. B. Jones and myself. We, as a combination, players, and therefore will not be troubled with nervousness or anxiety. Then the American services and the brilliant volleying will not present the same amount of terrors to us as it would to the uninitiated."

TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 5.—In the second game of the present series Nashville will pitch Case, with Ludwig receiving, while Memphis will send in Parsons and Snell as their battery.

Warm, but threatening weather prevails.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 5.—Bagby will pitch for the home club, and either Covaleskie or Summers will go to the mound for the visitors in the second game of the Montgomery-Chattanooga series today.

The weather is a little cloudy, but promises to clear up. Gribbens and Street will be opposing catchers.

Manager Dobbs today announced the arrival of Snyder, a new pitcher obtained by Montgomery from the St. Louis Browns.

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—Foxen or Thompson pitching, and Mayer behind the bat, is Manager Molesworth's battery men for the second game of the series with New Orleans today. McIntyre or Swindell and Yantz will work for the locals. The Birmingham manager expects Third Baseman McDonald and Outfielder Knisley, purchased from the Chicago Nationals, to join his club today.

Evers Leading the Race; Rivals Are at the Bottom

When It Was Predicted That Johnny Would Be at the Bottom Very Few Thought He Would Make Such a Good Record

"Johnny Evers will never succeed as manager of a ball club."—Frank Chance.

"As a baseball manager Johnny Evers will be a frost."—Joe Tinker.

It will be remembered that when Frank Chance was dressed as manager of the Chicago Nationals and Johnny Evers placed in charge the bugs all over the circuit began to yell that Evers would never make a manager. Backers of the Cubs in previous races were quite sure that C. W. Murphy, the eccentric owner of the team, was committing baseball suicide in making the change and did not hesitate to let out a yell of disapproval.

Well, right now Murphy has the laugh on the whole bunch. The Cubs are a close second in the National league race, while the Cincinnati Reds, piloted by Joe Tinker, are absolutely last and Frank Chance's New York Americans are in the last place. Of course it may not be thusly always, but right now Murphy has the laugh on his knockers, of which there are many.

There is no doubt but that Johnny Evers is a big crab and believes in every player doing just what he is told to do by the manager at that. He is certainly getting work from every player who wears a Cub uniform.

Of course being at the top of the heap in May does not count for much in a pennant race which is finished in October, yet it gives the Murphy-Evers combination a chance to laugh a bit at their rivals who predicted dismal failure. In the baseball world Evers is known as the biggest of crabs, caused from his crabbing at both umpires and players. All of which calls to mind a joke recently told by Umpire Tim Hurst:

Umpire Hurst was working a game in which Evers was playing at Philadelphia, and when the battle began to drag the umpire began to hustle it a bit so he could get off and pay Atlantic City a visit during Saturday night and Sunday. Evers was working for the same end and finally Hurst learned Evers' intention of going to the beach, whereupon he at once began to drag the game, telling Evers that he would not go in the surf with him for a million dollars. Upon being questioned as to why, the umps modestly replied that when Evers hit the surf a million of his fellow-crabs would immediately gather around and there wouldn't be a chance for an empire.

Kling Says This is His Last Year

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 5.—John Kling, former catcher of the Chicago National league team, and last year's manager of the Boston Nationals, left last night for Cincinnati, whence he will proceed to New York to report to Manager Joe Tinker, of the Cincinnati team. Before leaving Kling once more said this would be his last year in beball. "I am in good shape," he said, "and I expect to end my career in a blaze of glory."

Mobile Takes Opening Game From Atlanta

Paul Musser No Puzzle for the Gull Batsmen—Whitey Alperman Again Proved a Star With the Slap-Stick

MOBILE, Ala., May 5.—When Paul Musser and Buck Weaver were hit a bit timely and also accorded rather bad support, the Mobile club lengthened its lead for first place over the Atlanta club. The final score was 9 to 4; with Musser being charged with the loss.

On hand at the game were 7,312 paid admissions and the way they rooted for the home bunch was an inspiring sight. Tommy Long and Joe Dunn, both ex-Gulls, were given a big ovation by their many friends in Mobile, both these players being well known locally.

After Buck Weaver succeeded Musser in the opening round he hurled a good article of ball, the rather bad support counting for many of the runs. There were no errors made, but errors in judgment hurt just as much.

The Gulls started out to win the game in the very first round by sending home four tallies. Four hits, two for extra bases, and three runs were rallied off Musser in the first inning before Manager Smith could yank him and send in Weaver, who allowed the fourth tally of the round. Four more were added by the Gulls in the fifth, three of which were gifts, two double steals on which the fielding was bad and a wild pitch being the main causes.

Atlanta put over the first run of the game in the first inning. With two gone, Alperman singled and went to second on an error, from where he scored on a hit by Welchonce. After that there was never any doubt as to which club would win.

Whitey Alperman and Robertson starred with the ax-wallop with three hits each. Next in line was Jacobson and then Bisland and O'Dell.

The game was decidedly slow and was featured by two plays. Long and Dunn did not seem able to hold the runners to the paths, though in most instances he was handicapped by men being on both third and first when the steal was started. Each team made one error.

The second game of the series will be staged Monday and another good crowd is expected, this series having much bearing on the final result.

TWO PLAYERS FOR DOBBS

Two more Brownies have been relegated to the minor leagues. Charles Snyder, pitcher, and Ernest Walker, outfielder, were released to Montgomery of the Southern league Friday morning.

Snyder is the pugilistic flinger who came here frm Louisville in exchange for Jack Powell. He is a big right-hander, and showed considerable promise, but was not ready for the big show.

Too many left-handed outfielders caused the banishment of Walker. He is a fast fielder, can throw, but did not hit any too well in the few opportunities he got. He is left-handed. Manager Stovall decided to keep Maisel, a right-hander. The three regular outfielders are Bailey, Pete Compton swat from the first base side of the plate.—St. Louis Times.

Princeton Oarsman Out With Blood Poison

PRINCETON, N. J., May 5.—T. C. Briggs, who has been rowing number 5 on the Princeton varsity crew for the past two years, will be out of Saturday's race with Pennsylvania and Harvard on account of blood poisoning in the hand, according to a statement by Dr. Spaeth, the Tiger coach. Briggs is considered one of the best oarsmen in the Tiger shell.

Chester has been moved from No. 3 to fill in for Briggs at No. 5. Curtis has been shifted from bow to No. 2 and Buncee, a substitute, is now rowing bow. The crew will leave Wednesday for Cambridge.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

Only three hits were made during the Pittsburg-Cincinnati game Sunday, Adams allowing the Reds 2 and Fromme giving one to the Pirates. Yet the latter won 1 to 0, Adams getting a triple off Fromme in the third, immediately following a base on balls, winning his own game.

The Cards and the Cubs made some batting records Sunday in their game which St. Louis won, 10 to 8. Richie held the Cards safe until the eighth, when they got a coupel of tallies, tying it up in the ninth and winning out in the thirteenth. The Cards got twenty hits, the Cubs twelve.

The Cardinals used up all teh hurlers they had against the Cubs, Perritt, Sallee, and Willis each being driven in turn from the mound. Konetchy, a first baseman, then came to the rescue and pitched the best ball of the day. He finally had to give way in favor of Cathers, an outfielder.

Dubuc pitched masterly ball for the Tigers Sunday, holding the White Sox to six hits, only two of which came in one inning, when two singles and a fielders' choice netted Chicago its only run.

Evans, in the box for New Orleans Sunday, did not allow a hit until the seventh, although he received poor support. The Barons got two hits in all and one run.

Chattanooga beat out the Billikens in the tenth Sunday after the score had been tied up in the ninth. Montgomery scored three in the eighth and seemingly had teh game sewed up, but with two down and none on bases in the ninth the Lookouts tied it up. C. Brown was relieved by E. Brown in the ninth after the tieing run had been scored and the bases were full. He fanned Coyle, retiring the side.

Love stole home in the fourth inning of the Nashville-Memphis game.

SO WHAT'S THE USE.

"I get you Steve"—has vanished with the winds;
"Believe me, kid"—has drawn its final breath;
"You said it, Bo"—yes, that has skidded, too—
Nor was I one to weep much at its death.

But while I cheer the death of each refrain,
Scarce has the cheering perished in my throat,
Before, O worse than anything yet framed,
There's always something new to grab my goat.

As for example now, in daily talk
Above me hovers ever that dark pork—
And when somebody springs it then I know
The "I should-worry" gag smells worse than all.

THE SHUT-OUT EPIDEMIC.

Where last season the pitching flurry pointed toward record runs—in which Marquard, Johnson and Wood shattered existing marks for the modern game—the flurry now prevalent seems to point towards shut-out records.

Johnson, for one example, has now traveled 35 rounds without permitting a tally. Grover Alexander has worked in 22 innings to date without yielding a run. Young Mr. Seaton of the Phillies spun off two shutouts before it was even slightly dented.

THE WESTERN INVASION.

Western clubs facing an eastern invasion next week are likely to run foul of much better pitching than they have encountered within their own section. The Cubs, as an instance, have been pounding rival pitchers to a dark purple pulp ever since the curtain rose. But while Evers has plenty of batting power on board, it isn't overly probable that his musketry will pull off any incessant firing against such timber as Mathewson, Tesreau, Rucker, Alexander, Seaton and several others in the list. The Cubs on this trip will require better pitching than they have drawn. The ability of Larry Cheney alone will never carry through the eastern group. They have at least three tough ball clubs to tackle on this four, which is about two more than they have were forced to meet out west. With the Reds in rout and Pittsburg shy the genius of Wagner.

ABOUT WAGNER.

Wagner, as they say, may be about through. We begin to count blokes like Wagner and Lajoie out when the tombstone has been erected and the last clod piled on.

One of the main pastimes of the Prophet's league for the last four or five seasons has been predicting that Lajoie has played his final game. And after all this—after several seasons of trouble where his legs had caved in—here is the big Frenchman back in top form—looking better than for five years and batting only about .350.

Wagner may be through, but we doubt it. A good rest—a flare of warm sun and the Dutchman is liable to be in there any week with the same old stuff. Tris isn't saying that Honus will return with any improved fixtures. But he can still skid quite a way back and pike on among those who belong.

Here's to him for an early return. And we don't care how many clubs his batting beats after he once gets back.

They say Al Bridwell was a dead fish also. In behalf of which Al fits in where J. Tinker left off as if nothing had happened. And fulfilling Tinker's gap is no job for a dead fish—or one paddling with a wounded fin.

When a ball club is forced to depend upon one or two men for success it isn't a ball club to be listed as an advance pennant winner. It was on this account that we ranked the Giants above the Pirates where the genial consensus of outside opinion seemed to be that the Pirates would win by ten or twelve games.

SUBSTITUTES MADE REGULARS SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT

Coach Heisman as a judge of ball players and of men has been sustained as never before in the results he obtained by subbing his varsity men at Tech with second-string men for a week to which two series were played with other college teams.

Following the Alabama series the peerless tutor of the Tech tribe decided that certain of his pupils were loafing—"playing to the grandstand," as it were. With him decision is action, and in consequence, the next practice found a half dozen of his reputed star performers on the bench.

They were there during the Wake Forest series when Tech lost to a strong team by a fair score. They were there when the scrubs licked Sewanee decisively in the first battle. When they came back for the second Sewanee game they "were there," but to another sense.

They knew that they had to make good, they knew that a man was coaching them whom they couldn't "run over." Who meant to be a coach in fact as well as in reality. They made good, they played with a snap and da vigor they did what they were told to do; they acted with sense, baseball sense, they ignored the grandstand. They beat Sewanee.

All praise is due to Coach Heisman for his action. All praise is due to the varsity men who took their medicine, and showed that they could take it without sustaining a severe grouch. All praise is due to the Tech student body for backing their coach and not raising a terrific howl for the first team.

But most of all is praise due to those subs who labored faithfully and well, who answered the call of their college in its hour of need, and who are now content to take a back seat, satisfied to let other men play in their places, content that they have done their best for their school.

These players—Clay, Wooten, Amason, and others—have played the game. Some of them have been in only temporarily, some will stick in places of men who have left school, some will stick because they are better men than those they have succeeded.

They have played hard, they have played well, they have made the varsity men hustle. They have shown Tech that the school has a second team which can come to the rescue and make a good getaway doing it.

The entire performance is but an outcome of that better and bigger college spirit which is on the boom at Georgia Tech. The varsity men, the scrubs, and the season have shown it, the right stuff, the kind of spirit that makes boys something more than ball players and teaches other lessons than bunting and base-running.

WOMEN SEEK FAN'S VOTES

NEW YORK, May 5.—Invasion of baseball's realm is to be tried by the woman suffragists here this summer. In the hope of winning from the "fans" some of the enthusiasm they show for the national game to the support of the votes for women's cause, suffragists are being urged to attend every baseball game, wearing the colors of the cause, and to distribute suffrage literature.

"Also be at the gates when the men come out," it is urged, "for they will be good natured then and take your literature quite amiably."

No mention is made of the possibility of golomy days when the home team goes down to humiliating defeat.

Other lairs of the hunted male which the women will seek out during the summer are country fairs, horse races, balloon ascensions, excursions and moving picture houses.

Yale Leads

BOSTON, May 5.—The college baseball season of 1912 in the east entered the secondary stage this week, with Yale leading in the race for the intercollegiate championship.

Yale has won eleven consecutive games and has been defeated but once. Early in the season the Blue lost to Pennsylvania, but a week ago beat the same team.

HITTING IN OLD FORM

The demon Detroit outfielder has always had the knack of wielding the stick in jam-up style.

LaGrange Wins In Every Game

Team Is Now Ready to Enter the Race in Georgia-Alabama League

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 5.—The LaGrange team shut out Langdale Saturday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0, and by so doing rolled up a record of no practice game lost this season. The Langdale team is a very fast set of ball players and know the game. Their left-handed pitcher, Earl James, of West Point, made a remarkable showing for six innings. He is a mere kid and will be a big leaguerr if he keeps up his present pace.

Monday morning the team left for Newnan, where they play the opening game with that club of the Georgia-Alabama league. LaGrange has beaten all teams that have played Newnan, beating both East Point and Grantville, both of which teams easily defeated the Newnan club.

The LaGrange boys are not over confident of the first game, however, as some of the boys are sick, and the team is not in the best of condition. It is, however, the only team in the Georgia-Alabama league which has won all the practice games played.

POLO STARS ON THE WAY

LONDON, May 5.—There has been some uncertainty as to the composition of the British polo team which is to attempt to win the international polo cup from the American team at Meadowbrook, L. I., in June, but this was removed today when King George bade farewell to the challengers at Buckingham palace.

The chosen quartet to represent the British Isles were Captain R. C. Ritson, Captain Leslie St. C. Cheape, Captain Vivian Lockett and Captain Noel Edwards.

The king, when he shook hands with them, wished them luck in their efforts to bring the cup back to England.

Giants Down Baltimore

BALTIMORE, May 5.—The New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Internationals at Back river, 7 to 1.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
New York Nat...041 000 101—7 11 4
Baltimore Inter...000 000 001—1 5 2

Batteries—Crandall, Shupp and Wilson, Hartley, Davidson and Bergen.

Savannah Sets Swiftest Pace

Sally League Race This Year Is Now Becoming a Bit Exciting

The third week of the South Atlantic baseball season saw considerable breaking up in the standing of the six clubs, which had previously been closely bunched. Savannah, by going through the week without a single defeat, not only climbed into first place, but gained a good margin over the nearest competitor.

There was a marked improvement in the work of practically every team evident during the past week. Although pitchers continued to be hit hard as a rule, errors were far less frequent than had been the case in the previous weeks of the season, with the result that most of the games were won by low scores.

Jacksonville, now in second place in the pennant race, got more than her share of hits during the week, and won four out of six games. Columbus and Macon, on the other hand, experienced greatest difficulty in connecting with the slants of opposition pitchers. Macon lost every game of the week and fell to next to last place. Charleston had an erratic week, and netted three victories and three defeats. Albany, by a tightening of general team work, won three of six games and bettered her percentage, but remained in last place.

Unusually favorable weather continued, with the result that the first forty-five games scheduled have been played off without a single postponement. There has been but one tie game.

Rube Waddell Quits Baseball

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 5.—Rube Waddell, former major league pitcher, has quit organized baseball, according to an announcement made by the management of the Minneapolis team of the Northern league. Waddell's reasons, except that he has several grievances against the baseball "trust," were not made known.

Following last Friday's game with Grand Forks, in which Rube allowed only three hits, he handed in his uniform with the brief statement that he was through, it was said last night. Waddell will go to Marshall, Minn., soon, where he will play with a semi-professional team, according to information given out.

GEORGIA HAS THE FIRST CLAIM ON CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE SOUTH

Only Victory in Tech Games Stands in the Way of Undisputed Claim to the Honors of the S. I. A. A.

ATHENS, Ga., May 5.—With Vanderbilt disposed of the Georgia fans are now contending that the champions of the S. I. A. A. are the lads that cavort on Sanford field. All of which is true, unless Georgia stubs her toe on her ancient stumbling block, Tech, whom they meet in Athens on the 9th and 10th, and in Atlanta on the 16th and 17th.

Figures for the college games indulged in by this team show that it is one of the most wonderful offensive teams which has ever performed in the southern association. It is one of the few teams where over half of the squad is hitting above a .300 clip. This aggregation has lost only five games and one series and has met some of the toughest teams in the country, including Vandy, Auburn, Alabama, Michigan, Michigan A. & M. and Ohio State. The only team which was able to get away with a series was the University of Michigan. At no time at home or abroad has the Georgia team been blanked, and no pitcher has faced them and gotten away with less than five hits off his delivery. The team's hitting average through the Vanderbilt games was .301. The games played with Tennessee Friday and Saturday will boost this figure somewhat.

Neither is the Georgia team weak defensively. Their green infield and pitchers have developed wonderfully under the masterly touch of Cunningham, and it looks impossible now to keep either Morris or Corley off the all-southern pick. The inside baseball shown by the infield is most effective in keeping the scores of the opponents down.

Collectively the figures show as follows:

Played 18, won 13, lost 4 and tied 1.

Total number of hits 171, total runs 91. Average for each game, hits 9 1-2, runs 5.

Individually, the men who are responsible for Georgia's great showing this year, and who will be the center of interest in the coming Tech series, are:

COACH CUNNINGHAM.

All glory goes to Georgia's coach for the way he has developed his pitchers and infield. Especially for the way he has kept the "pep" in his players. The doubts which were first expressed as to whether he would succeed in baseball as he has in football have been repelled. In many pinches his outguessing of opposing teams has won games. Particularly illustrative is the play which he pulled against Vanderbilt. Bowden, who had to be sent to first, had a bad arm and could not throw across the diamond. Cunningham guessed that Vanderbilt runners would try to go from second to third on a throw to Bowden. Nuck Brown reached first, and when a grounder was poked to short Nuck reached second, and expecting Bowden to receive the throw, he kept straight on to third. Harrison, however, came over from second, received the throw at first retiring the batsman, and snapped the ball to third, where a double play was completed. It is this inside baseball work that Cunningham has used to make an airtight infield.

Hutchens, Georgia's big receiver, who held down first sack last year, is in a measure responsible for the work of Georgia's pitchers. He is all head, and throws with great accuracy. He has performed a stunt seldom done in college circles. Due to the injury of Bowden, Hutchens has caught every game Georgia has played. He hits .253.

Pitchers—Morris and Corley are well balanced. They both hold opposing teams to a scattered few bingles, but Corley has it on Morris a little in control. Both have a no-hit game to their credit. Corley hits .212, Morris only .076.

On account of an injured arm Bowden has been hors du combat during most of the season, and big John Henderson has been holding down first. This rosy cheeked youth is handling himself in an all-southern manner, and his batting average has the healthy appearance of .354. Bowden as a pinch hitter is hitting an even .425. Big John is at present out of the game on account of mumps, and Bowden is in his place. He will probably be back on the job by the Tech series.

This is Harrison's first year on the team. The Marist lad has made good on second, and is holding down that sack well. He covers a world of ground and hits .294.

Clements, Georgia's little shortstop, is another Gordon institute recruit. He is one of the fastest little fielders in college ball, and hits even 300.

Covington has in many cases been the brains of the infield. Bubbles scrubbed for two years, and for the past two years he has been one of the best third basemen in the S. I. A. A. He, however, has been protested, not on affidavits, but on a statement that he played in an adjoining county last year. Should he go the route that Holliday and Moses have gone, the way will be open for some promising lad to present himself for third base on the All-Southern team. Covington hits 2.50.

THE OUTFIELD.

Ginn, in left garden, has returned to his old form. He is hitting hard and often. He leads the team in extra base swats, having secured four homers, two three-baggers and two doubles, a total of thirty-four bases. He is also a "wild man" on the bases. He is as fast as lightning and knows when to take a chance.

McWhorter, in center, is the same old Bob in the outer garden and on the bases. Notwithstanding the hard luck he has had on some of his long drives he still hits .339.

Erwin, the Athens lad who holds down right field, only found himself on the trip north, and since that time he has been hitting like a house afire. His season's average is .250.

Brown, a freshman who contested with Erwin for this place, was knocked out early in the season on account of mumps. Out of his eleven times at bat this boy gained an average of .454. He will be available soon for a pinch hitter.

These individual figures look like the following when collected.

Player.	AB.	R.	H.	Av.
Brown	11	2	5	.454
Bowden	24	4	10	.425
Henderson	48	11	17	.354
McWhorter	56	15	19	.339
Ginn	69	19	22	.319
Clements	60	11	18	.300
Harrison	68	11	20	.294
Hutchens	67	10	17	.253
Covington	69	10	15	.250
Corley	23	2	5	.212
Hitchcock	9	0	1	.111
Morris	26	2	2	.076

Team average, .301.

Extra base hits: Two-base hits, 19; three-base hits, 12; home runs, 13. Total bases, 266.

AMERICAN HURLERS BEST
—OSCAR STANAGE.

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—There isn't a member of the Tiger's squad who can see Christy Mathewson's statement that the National league is as well balanced in a pitching sense as the Americans, or that the National circuit has as many good pitchers as the younger organization.

Oscar Stanage, in his position as first catcher on the Detroit team, and also because of his high standing among the backstops of the major leagues, was called upon to express an opinion, and here is what the big fellow said:

"While my experience with National league pitchers is not extensive, I cannot be led into the thought that the older circuit has as good an array of twirlers as the American league. In the National league there are Mathewson, Tesreau, Hendryx, O'Toole, Marquard, Sallee, Cheney and Richie.

"In the American we have Johnson, Walsh, Wood, Plank, Bender, Coombs, Mullin, Dubuc, Hamilton, Gregg, Ford, and Bedient. Now the Detroit club in the American league but that has one star pitcher. Philadelphia has three men in Coombs, Bender and Plank, while Boston has two in Wood and Bedient, and really, Ray Collins, of the Red Sox, can be classed with the stars.

"In the National league, New York has three great pitchers, Chicago has two, Pittsburg has two, while St. Louis leaves Boston, Cincinnati and Philadelphia in the Nationals without a great pitcher.

"Does that seem as though Mathewson's argument was well based?"

Wisconsin's chances at Poughkeepsie in June received a severe setback a few days ago when Edward J. Samp, the oldest man on the crew, turned in his resignation to Coach Vail.

Samp, who rowed at Poughkeepsie in his freshman, sophomore and junior years, and also played football for three years, was considered the most likely candidate for crew captain. He explained that he had been forced to give up rowing through the doctor's orders. His heart is said to be weak.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Value of Public Exhibitions.

IT FOR one can see what a change has been brought about in eight or ten years and the public spirit of the people of Atlanta and the ones who have large investments and are financially interested in the future prosperity of our country should not allow this state of affairs to exist, but should take up this work and get it started again and keep it up the same as is done in nearly every city in the state of Atlanta. The state fair held at Dallas, Tex., Shreveport, La., Columbia, S. C., Nashville, Tenn., Richmond, Va., Louisville, Ky., and many other eastern and western cities show that these exhibitions can be and are successfully and profitably conducted, and there is no reason why they should not be annually conducted in Atlanta.

Aside from the financial welfare it is to the country it makes people work and keeps money in circulation that no other means will be the cause of this work being done. It is something the country needs and should be looked after as much so as most any other public interest that the country should take an interest in.

The state fair conducted at Macon during the past few years has brought about a big change in this city. Macon is growing by leaps and bounds. Hotel facilities have been much improved. Hundreds of other improvements have been noticeable. Many people have been attracted there by her annual fairs.

It is a wise thing for Macon and a profitable investment that the people in this section of the state should support the state fair in their community, and unless one had particularly noticed the direct benefits it has brought to this town they would little dream of what had been accomplished and had really been brought out by the annual fairs as conducted at Macon.

This state is large enough and a good annual exhibition should not only be conducted at Macon, but Atlanta and Savannah every year. They should be made permanent, and the state could not do a better work or appropriate any money that would be of more lasting benefit to the country than to adopt similar legislations to what Alabama has and have a certain amount of money set aside from each section as Alabama has to help conduct these public enterprises. Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile, as well as every county in the state of Alabama has a stipulated state appropriation set aside from a small per cent of the tax income to be spent or used in conducting these public exhibitions. The wonders in Alabama and today Alabama is becoming undoubtedly one of the livest and most prosperous agricultural states in the entire south. If it has been a good thing for Alabama and is encouraging the agricultural interests of her state, there is no reason why it should not be for Georgia. If some live legislator would look into how this legislation has been brought about in Alabama and apply the same laws in Georgia the agricultural interests as well as many other lines of industry would certainly be helped in this state.

We all know that our future prosperity in every line depends altogether on the progress and success of our farming operations, and anything that can be done to encourage or help the agricultural interest of any state it is sure to help every little town as well as the big cities to prosper. Georgia's opportunities and advantages are not utilized as they should be from an agricultural and stock standpoint, and there is much room for improvement. We should not boast of and feel that our country is what it should be until we can stop some of the millions of dollars that are brought into our state by cotton from getting away from us for food products. If we did not have the natural advantages to produce those and it could not be done it would be different, however, but just so long as we spend more money for food products than our staple crop brings into this state; just so long as this is continued we cannot ever hope to prosper as we should, and nothing will bring about the encouragement of diversified crops and the production of more food products, live stock and poultry than the annual exhibitions in the country which will tend to create a rivalry that will make people work and produce these things that they would never think of doing so now.

Yours very truly,

Geo. W. Brown

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Parcel on Simpson Street Near West Peachtree Street, and Some Small Investment Properties Are Sold—Grant Place, Between Peachtree and West Peachtree Streets, Now Completed and Lights Will Be Turned on Tonight

Only small sales were announced on Monday. These included a semi-central property and some small investment parcels.

L. O. Turner has sold for a client to E. L. Cochran 15 Simpson street, near West Peachtree street. The consideration was not named.

This property begins 142 feet west of West Peachtree street, and it consists of a ten-room dwelling on a lot 50x134.

OTHER SALES.

The J. W. Dobbins agency has sold the following:

For J. B. Thompson to C. W. Ford 53-9 May-a street, five houses on a lot 150x100, for $2,650.

For the East Lake Drive Land Improvement company to T. M. Overby lot 8 of the subdivision on Lake View Drive 50x165, for $900.

For J. Auerbach to Henry Clements, 37 Elm street, a four-room house on a lot 0x165, for $760.

GRANT PLACE OPENED.

Grant place, the street which L. J. Daniel opened from Peachtree through to West Peachtree street, upon which will be installed a white way, is completed, and the lights will be turned on Monday night.

Mr. Daniel bought the Peachtree frontage from John W. Grant and A. McD. Wilson. He bought frontage on West Peachtree street from other owners, thus making one solid tract from street to street.

He then opened Grant place through the tract from street to street, moving the houses from the two frontages on the new street, and laying a pavement and installing lights. The proposition was interesting as being a development of close-in and established residence property.

CORONER'S INQUEST RESUMED AT 2 P. M.: FRANK WILL TESTIFY

gan, when she went to the National Pencil company's factory on Forsyth street Saturday week ago to collect her wages for two days' labor.

Detectives Starnes and Campbell went to Marietta early in the morning Sunday, responding to telephone information given the officers as the result of The Journal's story Sunday.

Many people believed that they might be of assistance in locating the girl called at detective headquarters after reading The Journal's story, and as a result Chief of Police J. L. Beavers joined the detectives in his auto about 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Chief Beavers stated on his return that the efforts to find the girl of the red dress had proved futile. This girl is supposed to have stated that she went to the factory with Mary Phagan and waited outside, while she went to get her money.

Soon she was notified by two girls who came down the steps, that Mary would be down in a few minutes. Later according to the story, a man came down and told her that Mary said not to wait as she would be busy half an hour or more.

NEW EVIDENCE CLAIMED.

It is said that important new evidence has been developed in the case. About this the detectives are reticent, and while they are not responsible for the statement, the general impression prevails that Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey is using every effort to prevent the public coming into possession of "the state's case."

A number of stenographers are busy at police headquarters making typewritten copies of the statements made by witnesses and principals in the case, and it is said that this work is being done in order that the case may be gotten before the coroner's jury in a tangible shape.

Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, expects to complete his analysis of the bloodstains before the inquest is resumed. Dr. Smith is making an analysis not only of the blood stains on the shirt found in a barrel at the home of Newt Lee, but of the blood stains found on the floor of the second story of the factory, the blood on the lathe at the factory, and also of the blood on the garments worn by the dead girl.

Dr. Smith's report will probably tell whether or not it is the same blood on the shirt and on the floor of the factory where Mary Phagan commenced her battle for life, and this will prove of great value to the police. The analysis is expected to have important bearing on the case in many ways.

PINKERTONS AIDING.

A statement was given out at the office of the solicitor general Monday to the effect that Harry Scott, the Pinkerton on the case, has placed much valuable information in the hands of the solicitor.

Scott, with John Black, of the city force, was closeted with the solicitor for more than an hour Monday, and he gave the official a detailed account of the results of his investigation. Scott, like the general public, is being kept in ignorance of the results of the independent investigation, which is being conducted by the solicitor, and Solicitor Dorsey is probably the only man who is now in touch with every phase of the investigation.

The solicitor's office seemed to consider the information disclosed by the Pinkerton man Monday to be of great importance to the state.

MYSTERIOUS LETTER.

A letter, that may have an important bearing on the case, has come into the possession of Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons. This letter was the subject of a conference between Scott and Chief Lanford Monday and it is believed the detectives regard its contents as important. It is understood that the letter is from the mother of a young man, who formerly worked at the factory and who may be able to give the detectives some information of value. The detectives declined to even admit that they had such a letter.

BODY IS EXHUMED.

The body of Mary Phagan was exhumed Monday by direction of Coroner Donehoo, who went to Marietta for the purpose. An examination of the contents of the stomach will be made for the purpose of determining whether the child had been poisoned before she was attacked on the day of her death. It will probably be several days before this examination can be completed. The exhumation was done very quietly, and few people in Marietta knew anything about it.

GEORGIA MANUFACTURER PROTESTS COTTON TARIFF

Captain Meikleham, of Cotton Mills of Lindale, Calls on Senator Smith

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Captain H. P. Meikleham, of Rome, is in Washington for a conference with Senator Hoke Smith concerning the cotton schedule of the tariff bill. He expects to see the senator this afternoon, and show him wherein the provisions of the Underwood bill are unfair to the manufacturers of cotton goods.

Senator Smith will have charge of the cotton schedule of the bill when the measure reaches the senate. He heads the subcommittee of the finance committee to which was assigned the work of investigating this schedule.

Captain Meikleham heads the big cotton mills at Lindale, Floyd county, Ga. He says that the manufacturers have no objection to the Underwood duities on the coarser cotton goods, but that the reductions on the finer products will ruin the industry in the south.

"We can compete with the world in the manufacture of coarse cotton goods," he said, "but if the Underwood duties stand on the finer product we will be forced to quit business."

JUDGE GRUBB DENIES L. & N. RATE INJUNCTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 5.—Federal Judge W. I. Grubbs, of Birmingham, has denied the petition of the Louisville and Nashville railroad asking for an enjoinment of the Alabama railroad commission's order requiring the Louisville and Nashville railroad to restore a 2 1-2-cent passenger rate in Alabama. The railroad company request the railroad to hold the commission in contempt of the federal court. Official advices to this effect were received at the capitol Monday.

The decree of Judge Grubbs is en route to Colonel Harvey E. Jones, clerk of the federal court at Montgomery for filing.

The order of the railroad commission was originally effective March 8, but has been suspended until May 20 for eration, pending Judge Grubb's decision. The federal decree means that the railroad commission, without delay, will dispose of a similar case involving the Western Railway of Alabama, in which all evidence has been submitted.

N. Y. LEGISLATURE PASSES SHAM COMPENSATION BILL

(By Associated Press.)

ALBANY, N. Y., May 5.—Through the action of the assembly at its night session today in changing its stand and passing a measure already approved by the senate, the New York workmen's compensation bill was sent to Governor for approval. The proposed law, however, is opposed by the State Federation of Labor and representatives of that organization said tonight they will ask the governor to veto it.

Yesterday the assembly passed the Murtaugh-Jackson compensation bill, which was favored by labor interests. When it became apparent today that the senate did not intend to this measure the assembly took up the Walker-Foley bill, which had been sidetracked in favor of the rival proposal.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 5.—Judge Gilbert, of the Muscogee superior court, has denied a new trial to Mayor Gullatt, of Phoenix City, recently convicted on the charge of an accessory before the fact in the whitehead assault to murder case and sentenced to a year on the state farm. The case may be appealed.

EMORY BOARD WILL NAME ALUMNI TRUSTEE

No Announcement Has Been Made, However, of Alumnus

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OXFORD, Ga., May 5.—The election of an alumni member to the board of trustees of Emory college by the Emory Alumni association has been held, but the announcement as to the alumnus receiving the majority of votes has not been announced. Prof. H. H. Stone, of Oxford, secretary of the association, has sent out the proper voting blanks for this election, and it was stated in his letter the last day that a member could vote was April 30.

It is thought that an unusually large number of alumni participated in this election. An alumnus must be a member of the association to be eligible to election as a trustee, but every graduate of Emeory is allowed to vote in the election. It requires a long time to get in touch with every alumnus and secure his vote.

The alumni members of the board of trustees now are Colonel L. Z. Rosser, Colonel C. B. Shelton and Dr. Stewart Roberts, of Atlanta, Ga. It is quite unusual to have the three alumni members from the same city, but a pertinent fact regarding Emory's graduates is that 14.5 per cent live in Atlanta.

MOB SEEKS WOMAN WHO KILLED SALOONKEEPER

Mrs. Grace Smith Hurried Out of Gary, Indiana, in an Automobile

(By Associated Press.)

CROWN POINT, Ind., May 5.—Mrs. Grace Smith, who was shot and killed by Clarence Murphy at Gary last Wednesday night today escaped a threatened lynching at the hands of friends of the slain man by the aid of Mayor Knotts and Chief of Police Neuman of Gary who brought her to Crown Point in an automobile.

Murphy was a popular member of the Gary local of the Switchmen's Union and when members of the order learned it was purposed to take his slayer to the county seat they held a meeting at which it was determined to lynch her, or at least to give her a coat of tar and feathers.

The mob made no secret of its purpose and determined to lay in wait for the interurban car on which it had been intended to transfer the prisoner.

To circumvent the mob, the mayor and the chief of police hurried the prisoner out of town in an automobile. They were armed with rifles and pistols and followed by several automobiles full of curious persons. The change of route deceived the mob and the trip was without incident.

ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTES CALLED "WILD WOMEN"

Prosecutor Bodkin Denounces Militants in English Court on Monday

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 5.—Great interest was taken today in the police court proceedings against the suffragette leaders held on charges of conspiracy under the malicious damage act.

Archibald Bodkin, prosecuting counsel, in opening the case, said the defendants had been constantly meeting together. He referred to "General" Mrs. Drummond as a "violent and unscrupulous woman."

He said Clayton, the chemist, in whose possession were found documents describing a plan for burning down buildings in London, had put his brains at the disposal of the women for carrying out crimes and producing what their own paper described as "a reign of terror in London."

From the comfortable seclusion of Paris, Mr. Bodkin added, Miss Christable Pankhurst had sent an article every week to the suffragette paper, either commending what had happened during the preceding week or inciting to further acts of militancy.

In illustrating the control exercised by Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst over the "wild women," Mr. Bodkin called attention to her declaration of a truce while parliament was discussing the government's franchise bill. At a word from her, he said, militancy stopped, only to be resumed at her command when the bill was withdrawn.

"The doings of these miscreants," he continued, "were openly published in the newspaper, the Suffragette, which is an organ of crime."

Referring to the conspiracy revealed in the correspondence of the Chemist Clayton with Miss Anna Kennedy, Mr. Bodkin said: "It is a terrible thing for a man to prostitute his knowledge to carry out such wicked acts as the burning of buildings and the explosion of bombs."

The documents seized at the headquarters of the militant suffragettes included receipts for money paid to suffragettes convicted of crimes which apparently qualified them to be placed on the pension list.

"In Miss Harriet Kerr's room were found letters from an engineer named Buckner living in Hamburg, Germany, offering to sell for $750 a large quantity of pungent powder for use in music halls, theaters and other public places. The powder was guaranteed to cause violent sneezing and tremendous irritation of the skin."

Another letter read by Mr. Bodkin referred to a proposal by the suffragettes to damage some dock yards in Great Britain. The cost of the scheme, $100,000, was probably the reason why it was not immediately accepted.

When Mrs. Beirice Saunders was arrested and searched at the militant headquarters she attempted to destroy a letter giving details of the investments made by the Women's Social and Political union, the police said, on a number of checks for "very large amounts" were found.

In concluding his address for the prosecution, Mr. Bodkin asked the magistrate to send all the defendants for trial at the sessions.

It is admitted that Juarez would be of no value without some inland point in the border state, preferably Chihuahua City. But members of the El Paso junta believe that Casas Grandes may be easily taken and at the same time afford a railway, food supply and a base for military operations against the state capital.

Colonel Enrique Portillo, of Juarez, has been granted a commission to organize federal volunteers to occupy the Casas Grandes district, but this will require some time.

100 Names for Postmasterships Wait While President Attends to Other Business

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Keen disappointment was felt on Capitol Hill today that President Wilson failed to make any nominations for positions in the diplomatic and consular service, or in the postoffice, treasury or justice departments. The nominations sent today were few in number and were in the nature of promotions in the army and navy.

It is understood that over 100 nominations for postmasters in various sections of the country were ready for the president's consideration this morning, but the press of other business made it impossible for him to scrutinize the list, and send the names to the senate. These will be sent in probably next Thursday when the senate will meet again.

Postmaster General Burleson was as silent as a sphinx this morning concerning the postoffices at Rome, Gainesville and Dublin, in which much interest has been aroused.

"You may say that the postmaster general will discusse these offices only with the congressmen in whose districts they are located," said Mr. Burleson to The Journal correspondent. "I will say nothing more about the offices."

The statement of the postmaster general is in keeping with the policy he has adopted of discussing postoffice patronage only with members of the house and senate.

The situation at Gainesville is one of the most interesting and troublesome confronting the department at this time. Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet is making a hard fight to retain the office. Congressman Thomas M. Bell has recommended the nomination of Albert F. Hardy.

Mrs. Longstreet was in Washington last week and had a conference with the postmaster general. She presented her application for reappointment, together with her indorsements. It is believed she will be not reappointed, however, and it is probable that the department may turn to some one whose name has not figured prominently as an applicant

IS SHOT TO DEATH WHEN COAT FALLS OFF

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 5.—Augustus C. Tribble, of Seneca, died Saturday at the Greenville city hospital from bullet wounds received in a most unusual manner. He was driving a party of four men from Seneca to Westminster when something went wrong with his car. He got out of the car to make an examination, throwing his coat on the door of the tonneau. In the pocket of his coat was a .32 calibre revolver.

After making repairs to his machine Mr. Tribble caught hold of the door of the car, and in doing so threw his coat to the running board, with the result that the pistol in his pocket was discharged, sending a bullet through his windpipe, coursing upward in his neck. The injured man was hurried here for medical attention, but he only lived about six hours.

N. Y. POLICE STIRRED BY GANGSTER MURDERS

Gangsters Slay Two Policemen and Beat Up Two Others in Last Two Days

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—New York police here today declared war on the gangmen who killed two of their number and beat up two others during the past thirty hours on the Lower East Side.

One gangster also has been killed and another probably fatally injured in shooting affrays. Seventy-five detectives were detailed to the case today, and when the patrolmen on duty at the Mulberry street station went off duty this morning every one of them donned civilian clothes and volunteered to help the detectives.

The police believe that back of the shooting lies a struggle for the leadership of the Jack Sierocco gang, whose chief recently dropped out of sight. The two policemen were killed Saturday night by a gangster who had fatally wounded one of his rivals. Yesterday morning a policeman was badly beaten, and a few hours later another policeman, trying to disperse a crowd of toughs, was knocked down, hurled through a store window, then kicked into unconsciousness.

SOLAR OBSERVATIONS TO BE LINKED TOGETHER

Each Observatory Will Have Only One Phase of Observation to Make

WELLINGTON, N. Z., May 5.—The mission of linking together solar observation throughout the world, undertaken by Miss Mary Proctor, of New York, a daughter of the great English astronomer, Richard A. Proctor, who died in New York in 1888, has been brought to a successful conclusion after five years' work.

The establishment of solar physics observatory in New Zealand was assured today by the donation of $50,000 by Thomas Cawthron, of Nelson, New Zealand

This Will Carry Trust Methods Into Heavens

NEW YORK, May 5.—"Carrying American trust methods into the heavens" was the definition given today by a well known writer on scientific subjects to universal solar observation. The method is in every way admirable and desirable, he added, as much duplication by observatories will thereby be avoided

There are perhaps a dozen great solar observatories scattered over the world. Each of these have made independent observations of every phase of solar activity

Universal solar observation will restrict each observatory to a specific phase of observation, thus one observator was allotted the work of observing and recording attending upon sun spots, another will study protuberances from the rig of the sun, and so on.

Each will adhere exclusively to its own phase and all will work as separate departments of a monopoly for sun observation

The idea is about ten years old, and was first credited to Prof. Hickering, of Harvard.

SENATE BARS PUBLIC HEARING ON TARIFF

Senator Simmons Announces That Finance Committee Will Refuse Hearings

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—No public hearings on the tariff revision bill are to be held by the senate finance committee, according to Senator Simmons, its chairman. This is expected to speed up consideration of the bill after it gets to the senate, probably Thursday.

Senator Simmons said today that those most interested in the schedules were content to file briefs setting forth their views and recommendations.

It is the present view of the finance committee chairman that the committee will have the bill under consideration about ten days or two weeks at most.

After that two weeks will be given senators to prepare for debate on the floor. The bill is expected to be reported to the senate about June 1 at the latest.

Republican leaders, it is reported, are planning to move, when the bill comes from the house, to refer it to the finance committee with instructions for public hearings.

NO SECRET DIVORCE TRIALS IN ENGLAND

Highest Court of Appeals Rules That All Courts Are Open to All Subjects

LONDON, May 5.—The possibility of secret proceedings in divorces and other suits in the United Kingdom was put to an end by a judgment delivered by the house of lords, sitting as the highest court of appeals.

The divorce court had adjudged a Mrs. Scott guilty of contempt of court in circulating among her friends the report of a case heard "in camera," in which she had been accused of infidelity, but had been vindicated.

The lord chancellor's opinion, in which the other law lords concurred, reverses the judgment for contempt of court.

The lord chancellor declares:

"Every court of justice in the land is open to every subject of the kind, and a court has no power to sit otherwise than with open doors."

SHE PAYS THE PENALTY

There is hardly an American woman who fails to pay the penalty of her sex at some time or other. Pain lays its merciless hand upon her—it may be that dreadful backache, those bearing down pains, side-ache, nervousness, irregularities or the tortures of a displacement—it is the penalty of sex. To all such women in this condition Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes as a boon and a blessing. A simple remedy made from roots and herbs which has brought glorious health to more women than any other remedy.

FLOOD WILL NOT REACH RECORD AT NEW ORLEANS

Weather Bureau Amends Its Forecast—Stage of 1912 Will Not Be Reached

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—On account of the slow return of the Gibson's Landing crevasse waters to the Mississippi river through the Red river, the weather bureau today lowered the maximum flood stages previously forecast for Baton Rouge, Donaldsonville and New Orleans. The present indications are that the maximum stages in the lower river will range from half a foot to more than a foot below the high record stages of 1912.

Favorable reports from all points were received today at the headquarters here of the United States engineers regarding the condition of the levees along the river from Vicksburg south to the gulf. Continued sunshine and the new weather bureau forecast indicating lower stages in the lower river than were recorded last year have encouraged the engineers to believe they will be able to hold the remaining levees.

The forecast of the weather bureau calls for the following maximum stages:

Baton Rouge 42.5 to 43.5 feet, compared with a maximum of 43.8 last year; Donaldsonville 32.5 to 34.5 feet compared with 34.8 last year; New Orleans 21.0 to 21.5, compared with 22.0 feet last year. The crest of the flood is expected to reach New Orleans May 12.

During the forty-eight hours ending at 7 a. m. today there was a fall of three-tenths at Vicksburg and a fall of one-tenth at Natchez.

From Red river landing, the stages were, Red River landing 50.3 feet, a rise of two-tenths; Baton Rouge 40.8, a rise of 0.2; Donaldsonville 32.4, a rise of 0.3; New Orleans 20.3, a rise of 0.3.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH; FIRE DESTROYS HOME

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., May 5.—Last night shortly after midnight the home of R. L. Noland, of Fines Creek, near this city, was destroyed by fire, together with its contents. The twelve-year-old son of Mr. Noland was unable to make his escape and was cremated in the fire.

The balance of the family had a narrow escape from being burned to death. There was no insurance on either the building or contents and the origin of the fire has not been learned.

Mi-o-na Will Prevent Further Trouble.

Here, as in other cities and towns, stomach troubles are ensnaring victims in a most insidious way.

Nearly everyone is ill-treating the stomach, perhaps unconsciously, but the time comes when we cannot abuse it with impunity. Nature warns us. Distress after eating, belching of gas, that lump of lead feeling in the stomach, headache and lack of energy are warning signals. Now—at once—is the time to stop this distress.

Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets is the remedy. Get a box today. Their action is immediate. Besides stopping the distress Mi-o-na soothes the irritated walls of the stomach and strengthens the gastric follicles so that they pour out their daily supply of digestive materials, causing prompt digestion of the food that is eaten.

Mi-o-na is not an experiment. It is not a cure-all. It is a scientific remedy, recommended for but one thing—stomach ills.

Its use stops stomach distress and improves the digestive system so that what you eat is converted into nutrition and the entire system is properly nourished.

So certain are the results of Mi-o-na that it is always sold on the money back if not benefited plan. Druggists everywhere. 50c a large box.—(Advt.)

SUPREME COURT EXTENDS TIME TO UNION PACIFIC

Road Is Allowed Until July 1 to Dispose of Holdings in Southern Pacific

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The supreme court today extended the time in which the Union Pacific Railroad company must dispose of its 46 per cent in the Southern Pacific stock from May 12 to July 1, thus only partially complying with the request of Union Pacific attorneys for an indefinite extension of time.

The general effect of the decision is a victory for the federal government. Attorney General McReynolds opposed an extension longer than July 1.

The request for extension was made by the railroad attorneys when it became apparent that the circuit judges would not be able in the allotted time to pass upon the dissolution plan recently submitted.

The attorneys requested an indefinite extension.

Sale of the stock by the Union Pacific was made necessary on December 2, 1912, when the supreme court decided that its ownership by the Union Pacific effected a combination with the Southern Pacific, a competing road, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The court gave the Union Pacific until May 12 to dispose of its holdings.

Relieved eczema instantly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26, 1913: "Resinol has surely been a friend in need to me. I had eczema on my face. It was in the form of a rash. I used many treatments, without any results. I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and it gave me instant relief, and very thankful I was, for my whole head felt like it was afire. I told the doctor about Resinol and he highly recommended it and told me to continue its use. I am now completely cured of that dreadful disease after using only about four jars of Resinol Ointment and washing with Resinol Soap." (Signed) Miss Carolene B. Laughlin, 174 Pleasant St., Mt. Airey.
